Conversation of Governor King with Mayor WOOD.

THE ALDERMEN TO MEET DAILY.

Exceedingly Interesting Proceedings.

Comparative quietude is restored to the City yesterday. There was a general feeling among citizens that no further trouble would be had in the contest; the excitement had subsided into the Quiet where then but the excitement seemed to have lost its absorbing interest, and the Park was not densely thronged. The force about the City Hall was greatly reduced. The assemblage outside the Hall—less than fifty persons at 8½ o'clock—gradually swelled to some 300 at noon. Most were evidently curious lookers-on. Not the slightest excitement, or anything tending to it, was shown. The general talk was, that if the policemen were withdrawn from the Hall, all others would withdraw also. About 10 o'clock, all the special policemen sworn in on Wednesday, were dismissed by order of the Metropolitan Police Commissioners, who returned their thanks through Deputy Carpenter for the services rendered. Twelve men, including two sergeants—were permanently added to the new force. The Governor, who arrived in New-York by the Wednesday night train from Boston, was present at the office in White-street during the forenoon; and in the afternoon, previous to his departure for Albany, he had a consultation with Mayor Wood, at the Astor House. An account of this interview (given by the Mayor) will be found below.

All the wounded men are believed out of danger except Lyman Crofut, of the Metropolitan force, who resides at No. 64 Ludlow-street. Coroner Gamble, at the request of the Mayor, was in attendance at the residence of Mr. Crofut during the day, ready to hold an inquest, should it be found necessary.

At the office of the Street Commissioner matters proceeded quietly. There was no evidence of any unusual state of things there other than the presence of a considerable police force lounging upon benches or sitting composedly upon the stairs. Commissioner Conover had made no new effort to gain entrance. He is said to have been in consultation with Governor King all the morning. One of his clerks was in the outer room of the Recorder's office, but did not appear to be doing any business. The Recorder himself was testifying in the Burdell case during a portion of the morning, and holding Court at the General Sessions the remainder.

Mayor Wood came to his office at 9½ o'clock of the morning, looking refreshed. Deputy Sheriff McKibben, in whose custody the Mayor is, nominally, was not in sight, but soon after he appeared. The office of the Mayor was accessible throughout the day to those who had business with him. At six o'clock the vigilant Deputy assured our Reporter that his Honor had not been out of the office for more than four minutes during the day, that being the length of time that he had not been most carefully watched. His Honor assured our Reporter, however, that about one o'clock he went by invitation to the Astor House, and enjoyed a long conference with Governor King. He begged attention of our Reporter to this point—whether, as was the opinion of the Times of Thursday, he (the Mayor) was much care-worn and haggard. He felt fresh—and certainly his Honor looked refreshed. "I wish it understood," he said too, "that I am going home-home to-night—I'll have no Sheriff or Deputy Sheriff with me." Mr. McKibben, the Deputy, stood by, and made no demurrer to this. About 6½ P. M. the Mayor entered his carriage alone, and—unaccompanied rode homeward.

It was thought that there might be some excitement when Judge Russell's Court reassembled at 3 P. M. for the hearing of the first habeas corpus. There was no occasion for any, however.

Judge Russell, as was generally expected, discharged the Mayor on the writ of habeas corpus. Immediately before rendering his decision, however, a new writ of habeas corpus was applied for and granted, returnable immediately at Room No. 6 City Hall, (the Mayor's office.) This was to evade the force of the warrants served on the Mayor yesterday by Captains Carpenter and Speight, under which the Sheriff was bound to bring the Mayor before the Recorder, on his discharge by Judge Russell. This second habeas corpus was returnable forthwith in the Mayor's Office. District Attorney Hall declining however to proceed, it was adjourned for one week. Ten separate orders for the arrest of Mayor Wood in actions commenced against him by members of the Metropolitan Police, were granted during the day, four in the Supreme Court, three in the Superior Court and three in the Court of Common Pleas. Judge Hoffman, in the Superior Court, upon the affidavits of Governor Ferry and Daniel D. Conover, made an order requiring Mayor Wood to show cause before him on the 25th of June, instant, at 10 o'clock, why he should not be punished as for a contempt in resisting the service of process issued out of that Court on the 16th instant. Governor King, at the representation of District Attorney Hall, has directed that a Special Term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer be held in this City, to commence on the first Monday in July.

GOVERNOR KING.

In the morning Governor King remarked to one of our reporters, that he entirely approved the course of the Metropolitan Police Commissioners throughout this unfortunate affair—their moderation and their firmness he cordially sanctioned. With reference to his appointment of Mr. Conover, the Governor has made it after an opinion as to his power had been given by eminent legal gentlemen. Mr. Conover, in his opinion, has adopted the proper course in taking legal measures. He thought the crisis of the contest had passed, and that his presence here was no longer necessary. He left at 5 o'clock by the Harlem cars for Albany.

CONFERENCE OF GOV. KING AND MAYOR WOOD.

Two rumors prevailed extensively yesterday afternoon at the City Hall relative to an interview between Gov. King and Mayor Wood. One story was that Gov. King had called upon the Mayor and told him distinctly that he repudiated the action taken by the Metropolitan Police Commissioners touching the Street Commissionership, and the hostile position in which they had all along placed themselves to the Municipal Police under Mayor Wood. The story went further, that he was indignant at the calling out of the military on Tuesday last, and excessively wroth at having been summoned peremptorily from Boston when he was enjoying himself so well. On the contrary, it was stated that Mayor Wood called upon Gov. King and expressed his regrets at the recent embroilment between the two Police forces in the City and the disastrous results of the contest relative to the office of the Street Commissioner, and that he promised to acknowledge in future the authority and supremacy of the Metropolitan Police.

One of our Reporters called upon Mayor Wood, and received his statement of the interview between Governor King and himself. The Mayor prefaced his statement with the announcement that when he purported to recite facts he gave facts, and that his statements of the interview in question would be facts, and only facts. He remarked upon the high position of newspapers and the importance of Reporters getting their facts from reliable parties, after which he entered upon his recital:

MAYOR WOOD'S REPORT OF HIS CONFERENCE WITH THE GOVERNOR.

Shortly after 11 o'clock, a personal and political friend of Governor King called at his office, and stated that a visit from him to Governor King would be very acceptable to the latter, and asked him if he would not call at the Astor House and pay his respects to the Governor. He (the Mayor) was then occupied with the business of his office, and was unable at that hour to comply, with the request. At 2 P. M. another person, also a special personal and political friend of the Governor, called at his office and repeated the invitation of the previous caller. At about 3 P. M. he (the Mayor) went to the Astor House, and was shown into the room of Governor King. The Governor received him in a cordial, friendly manner.

After the exchange of the usual courtesies and introductions to parties present, the Governor said that he had been sent for rather peremptorily while enjoying himself in Boston. He now regretted that he had come to New-York, as he saw no necessity for his presence here. He thought him (the Mayor) capable of taking care of the peace of the City. He should leave town at 5 P. M. He had marched up hill and all he had to do was to march down again. If there had been a riot in the City, he had no doubt that he, the Chief Magistrate of the City, would have stood by him in restoring quiet to the City.

The Mayor stated in reply, that he felt capable of maintaining and preserving the peace of the City without the aid of the Governor. No person regretted more than he did what had occurred. He deprecated violence under any circumstance, and was an utterly a man of peace.

In what he had done in the present crisis he had been actuated only by a sense of public duty. He had resisted what he deemed an encroachment upon the rights of the City of New-York. The painful collision which had occurred between the two police forces claiming supremacy in the City had been produced by an effort to degrade him personally. The idea of sending armed force to serve a warrant upon him at his office, where, as every one knew, he was at all times accessible and willing to obey a writ legally served was perfectly monstrous. He had no doubt that those of the municipal police who resisted the efforts of the opposite police in their effort to serve a warrant upon him, were actuated by pure and proper motives. He was satisfied that had the Governor been in the City to give his counsel in the case, he would have prevented the imprudent steps which had been taken.

The Governor remarked that he, too, regretted exceedingly what had occurred. New-York was his native City. It was painful to know that such scenes of violence had occurred. He hoped that he (the Mayor) would use his utmost endeavors to prevent their recurrence.

The Mayor replied that in the whole controversy, from first to last, he had rather suppressed any outburst of partisan feeling on the part of his friends, but had counseled peace and harmony so far as the Police question was concerned. This question has soon to be decided by the Court of Appeals. He was willing to wait and abide their decision. The appointment of Street Commissioner was entirely distinct, however, from the Police question. He felt perfectly justified in the course he had taken in ejecting Mr. Conover from the Street Commissioner's office. Although the Governor had appointed him, his right to do which he disputed, he (Mr. Conover) had failed to qualify himself properly to enter upon the duties of the office. He had failed to comply with the requisitions of the ordinances of 1849, now in full force, requiring him to give two sureties, in bonds of $10,000 each, to be filed in the Comptroller's office, and to receive the Mayor's approval. In consideration of these facts he had taken the course which he had pursued in relation to Mr. Conover. He felt fully justified in taking this course, and should continue it, be the consequences what they may. At the same time he should continue to act as the guardian of the City, while the Governor retained his position as guardian of the State.

The Governor said he had just heard that Mr. Conover had failed to submit his sureties to the Mayor for approval.

Some conversation ensued about Bunker Hill, the weather, &c., when, after a cordial invitation from the Governor to call on him at Albany, they shook hands, and the Mayor retired.

THE NEW COMMISSIONERS.

The new Commissioners met yesterday at the usual hour. Gov. KING was present a part of the time. About 10 o'clock, the large special force sworn in on Wednesday were ordered to the Fifth Precinct Station in Franklin-street, where they were discharged from further duty. Whereupon they surrendered their clubs to Deputy-Superintendent CARPENTER, who, before their departure, read to them the following order:

The Acting Superintendent of the Metropolitan Police is directed by the Commissioners to tender the thanks of the Department to the Special Patrolmen who, in the recent disturbance of the public peace, so nobly assisted to vindicate the supremacy of the law, by enrolling themselves as part of the Police force of the District. The Acting Superintendent has the pleasure to inform the Special Patrolmen that order has been restored, and that their services are no longer required for the maintenance of the Peace.

DANIEL CARPENTER,
Acting Superintendent.

The Special force then dispersed, assuring the Deputy that whenever required they would be found willing to act in behalf of law and order.

The Commissioners made fourteen appointments—two Sergeants and twelve Patrolmen, viz:

Jno. Williamson, Sergeant,	H. S. Cox,
Edward Collin, Sergeant,	Arthur Johnston,
Thomas Beatty,	Floyd Palmer,
Enoch C. Lewis,	J. H. Thorn,
W. L. Miller,	James Alexander,
John W. Elliott,	D. G. Davis,
Joseph Waterbury, Jr.,	Geo. W. Majory.

No other public business was done by the Commissioners.

THE MAYOR'S FORCE YESTERDAY.

Two hundred and seventy-nine municipal policemen, drafted from all the Wards, reported themselves for duty at Chief Matsell's office, yesterday morning, and were immediately detailed for duty about the City Hall and Street-Commissioner's office. The following is a statement of the number of men and the Wards from which they came:

First Ward, 11; Second, 10; Third, 18; Fourth, 12; Fifth, 16; Sixth, 14; Seventh, 14; Eighth, 11; Ninth, 15; Tenth, 10; Eleventh, 11; Twelfth, 10; Thirteenth, 13; Fourteenth, 15; Fifteenth, 10; Sixteenth, 13; Seventeenth, 15; Eighteenth, 15; Nineteenth, 18; Twentieth, 11; Twenty first, 10; Twenty-second 13. Total, 279.

Besides these, there were about the hall the usual number of men there detailed, which, added to the force above given, increased the number of Mayor Wood's force to about 300.

The main entrances were guarded, as on the previous days, but not with so much strictness, as no force came entertained of any further collision. The men remained on duty until late in the afternoon, when they were dismissed for the night.

No formal meeting of the old Commissioners, Messrs. Wood and Russell, has been held for several days.

CONDITION OF THE WOUNDED.

MR. CROFUT NOT EXPECTED TO SURVIVE.

Police-Surgeon Jones, who has charge of the Metropolitan Policemen disabled at the fight at the City Hall on Tuesday, reported yesterday, to Deputy Carpenter, and to the Recorder, also, at this official's request. Policemen Bell, Greer, Bodine, Goodel, Petit, Van Tassell, Green, and Girvin, of the Fifth Precinct, were reported as doing well, and entirely removed from all danger.

Messrs. Smith and Slater, both of whom suffered severely, are also doing well, all threatening symptoms in each having disappeared.

Policeman Swagle, of the Third Precinct, who was badly cut about the head, is likewise fast recovering. The wounds inflicted were merely scalp ones.

Messrs. McKay and Benedict, of the same precinct, are so far recovered as to be able to report for duty.

Elisha Burlison, of the Ninth Ward, is about again. Mr. Burlison was, like nearly all the wounded, cut upon the head.

Officers Smith, of the Third Ward, Burlison, of the Ninth Ward, and Crofut, of the Seventeenth Ward, who were the most seriously injured, are all very low. Crofut is not expected to live much longer. He is at his residence, No. 184 Ludlow-street. He was one of the first who ascended the steps occupied by the Mayor's men, and the very first, it is believed, who resisted the attack of the crowd who opposed the progress of the Metropolitan force. Though quite an old man, he fought most desperately and felled many of his assailants before he himself was overpowered by numbers. While lying helpless upon the walk he was pounded most savagely. The people about imagined that that his life might be spared. "He has got enough," they said, "don't hit him again." No. [illegible] was paid to these remonstrances, and poor Crofut would have been pounded to a jelly had not some of the municipal officers, more humane than their fellows, rushed forward and interposed against any further violence. His rescuers then conveyed him to the Chief's Office, where his wounds were dressed, after which he was conveyed to his residence.

When news of Crofut's condition reached the Mayor, he sent immediately for Coroner Gamble, that he might be present to hold the inquest and make known the verdict.

Mr. Gamble not appearing quickly, Coroner Connery was sent for, and immediately reported himself. In the meantime Coroner Gamble, having been notified of the Mayor's wishes, hastened with his Deputy straightway to the house of Mr. Crofut, to be in at the death and hold a proper inquest. Capt. Hartt was present, as was also Dr. Jones. Capt. Hartt coming from the room of the sick man, said to those who stood in the passage-way, "Gentlemen, Mr. Crofut is in a very precarious condition, and it is the request of Dr. Jones and of Dr. Perry, who have seen him, that no visitors should be admitted."

"I am on the same feeling here as Coroner Perry," said Coroner Gamble; and this gentleman here (pointing to his companion) is my Deputy."

Some words of explanation hereupon took place between Capt. Hartt and Coroner Gamble, during which all present, save Coroner Gamble and his Deputy, retired as they had been requested to do. Coroner Gamble and his Deputy were, at the last accounts, on hand awaiting a chance for official duty, but Mr. Crofut was alive at a late hour last night, and some hopes of his recovery were entertained by his sanguine friends.

Policeman Dutcher, who is also among the injured, and upon whose complaint a warrant for the arrest of Alderman Wilson has been issued, is not yet out of danger.

CAPTAIN BENNETT TURNS UPON THE RECORDER AND OTHERS.

The following affidavit was drawn up yesterday and was to have been signed by Captain Bennett, whose name appears at the commencement. It is said that it will be duly signed by the Captain and certified by a commission this morning and warrants be served upon Recorder Smith, Coroner Perry and Capt. Carpenter, charged with making the alleged assault and inciting to riot

City and County of New-York, ss.—John W. Bennett, Captain of the Third Patrol District, being duly sworn, says that on the 16th day of June, 1857, an assemblage of men, calling themselves members of the so-called Metropolitan Police District, made an onslaught upon divers members of the Municipal Police force of said City, thereby causing a riot to take place in said City, against the provision of the statute of said City and County, and against the dignity of the people thereof. Deponent further charges Daniel E. Carpenter, Frederick W. Perry, and James M. Smith, Jr., as being the instigators, abettors and leaders in said riot. Deponent therefore prays that the said defendants may be arrested forthwith, and conveyed before a proper magistrate in said City, to be dealt with as the law directs.

It was stated that a large number of Municipal policemen, who participated in the fight on Tuesday, in the rear of the City Hall, had been applied to to sign an affidavit similar to the above, but refused, as they could not conscientiously swear that an assault was made first by the Metropolitan police, and not by themselves.

THE RETURN OF THE HABEAS CORPUS.

At 3 o'clock, the hour named by Judge RUSSELL for rendering his decision on the writ of habeas corpus, the Court of Sessions was densely crowded, and considerable anxiety prevailed as to the result, many predicting that in the event of the City Judge discharging the Mayor, some dodge would be resorted to in order to evade the necessity of his appearing before the Recorder under the warrants served yesterday by Captains Carpenter and Speight. This proved true, for no sooner had Judge Russell taken his seat than

Mr. Judge Dean rose and said: "May it please your Honor, before proceeding to render the decision in this case, I beg leave to present another matter that I deem of importance to bring immediately before you. I have here a petition of Fernando Wood, which I will read, with your honor's permission:

To the Hon. A. D. Russell, City Judge of the City and County of New-York:

The petition of Fernando Wood shows that he is restrained of his liberty by J. C. Willet, Sheriff of the said City and County, and that he is not committed or detained by virtue of any process issued by any Court of the United States, or by any Judge thereof; nor is he committed or detained by virtue of the final judgment or decree of any competent tribunal of civil or criminal jurisdiction, or by virtue of any execution issued upon such judgment or decree; that the cause or pretence of such imprisonment according to the best of the knowledge and belief of your Petitioner is several warrants issued by the Recorder of the City of New-York for the arrest of your Petitioner for misdemeanors alleged to have been committed by your Petitioner while acting as Mayor of the City of New-York, in the discharge of his official duties as Mayor of said City; and your Petitioner further shows that he believes that said warrants have been issued by personal and political enemies, and for the purpose of gratifying personal and political malice only: wherefore your Petitioner prays that a writ of habeas corpus issue directed to said James C. Willet, Sheriff of said City and County, commanding him to bring the body of Fernando Wood before your Honor forthwith, together with the cause of his imprisonment. Dated the 18th day of June, 1857. FERNANDO WOOD.

City and County of New-York, ss.—Fernando Wood, the above Petitioner, being duly sworn, doth depose and say, that the facts set forth in the above petition, subscribed by him are true. FERNANDO WOOD.

Sworn before me, this 18th day of June, 1857.
A. D. RUSSEL, City Judge.

I ask (continued Mr. Dean) that your Honor will grant us a writ of habeas corpus, which right the statute gives to every citizen. I ask, moreover, that it may be returnable to the Office of the Mayor, Room No. 6 City Hall, forthwith.

Judge Russell—I do not know that it will be possible for me to have a hearing to day, but I will issue the writ, as the statute makes it imperative on me to do so.

Mr. Dean—That is enough. This is a writ which your Honor has a right to postpone the hearing of. We suppose that under the present exigencies, the Mayor should be kept in the citadel. After the writ is granted, we are willing to postpone the hearing under it until any time which suits the convenience of your Honor.

District-Attorney—I, of course, have nothing to say in this matter; but as amicus curiæ, I suggest, to your Honor that a "return forthwith" of a habeas corpus is not legal. It is a mistake to draw up a habeas corpus as returnable "forthwith," for the expression of the statute is "immediately on service of this writ."

Mr. Deane—I am willing to put it in that way.

District-Attorney—"Forthwith" does not mean anything. Your Honor had better quote the statute.

Mr. Deane—We think, your Honor, that the present exigencies are such as require the Mayor to be at the City Hall.

Judge RUSSELL here signed the writ of habeas corpus, and handed it to Judge Dean, who served it on Sheriff Willet, standing within the bar. The writ reads as follows:

The People of the State of New-York to Jas. C. Willet, Sheriff of the City and County of New-York, greeting:

We command you that you have the body of Fernando Wood, by you imprisoned and detained, as it is said, together with the time and cause of your imprisonment and detention, by whatsoever name it shall be called or charged, before me, at room No. 6 of the City Hall, in said City, immediately on the service of this writ, to do and receive what shall then and there be considered concerning him; and have you then and there this writ.

Witness—Henry A. Davies, Esq., one of the Justices of the Supreme Court, the 18th day of June, 1857.

RICHARD B. CONNOLLY, Clerk.

DEANE and DONOHUE, Attorneys for the Petitioner.

JUDGE RUSSELL'S DECISION.

Judge RUSSELL then read the following decision on the writ of habeas corpus, argued yesterday:

This case comes before me upon the application of Gilbert Dean for a writ of habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of the imprisonment of Fernando Wood, Mayor of the City of New-York. By the return of the Sheriff to the writ, it appears that he arrested the Mayor on the 16th instant, and that he detains him in his custody by virtue of a warrant issued by the Recorder of the City of New-York, in which the Mayor is charged, in connection with Charles Tuzzet and John W. Bennett, with inciting to a riot in the City of New-York, on the 15th and 16th instant, and with assaulting and procuring others to assault, one Daniel B. Conover, on those days. I speak of Mr. Wood as Mayor, not because he is so designated in the charge or complaint against him, but because, from what transpired before me, it appeared that he was in fact the Mayor of the City of New-York, and that whatever he did on the occasions referred to was in that character or capacity. On the part of the applicant for the writ, a traverse of the Sheriff's return was interposed, denying the sufficiency of the affidavit or complaint on which the warrant was issued, and alleging the official character of the Mayor as a bar to arrest or imprisonment for his official acts. The learned District Attorney insisted that this traverse was, in effect, a demurrer, and joined in it as such, and averred in addition, in negative terms: First, that the affidavit was sufficient; second, that the official acts of the Mayor were the subjects of arrest in law; and, third, that the privileges of office did not avail the Mayor as to the acts for which the warrant was issued. The only evidence before me on the subject of the Mayor's alleged criminality was the affidavit on which the warrant was issued. On the return of the writ of habeas corpus, the District-Attorney urged, as a preliminary objection, that there was no right or power on the part of the City Judge to issue or allow such a writ. I had then and have now no doubt as to my jurisdiction in the matter. It was a subject I had previously satisfied myself upon by a careful examination and consideration of the powers and duties of the office. It would take away a most important attribute from the office to admit that it had no such power. It would be against the policy of the law, as well as against that liberal rule of construction which prevails in relation to remedial statutes, to confine or restrict the right to issue this merciful writ to a few hands. By the act of the Legislature creating the office of City Judge, (Laws of 1850, p. 383, section 3,) it is distinctly declared that, "All judicial powers vested by law in the Recorder of the City of New-York are hereby conferred upon such (the) City Judge, and said (the) City Judge shall, concurrently with said (the) Recorder perform and discharge all judicial duties imposed upon such (the) Recorder. The Recorder, as a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the City and County of New-York, has the same powers as the Judges specially elected for that Court; and the powers of the latter, as Supreme Court Commissioners, are expressly continued to them by chapter 255 of the laws of 1847. (Laws of 1847, page 281, sec. 7.) This law has undergone judicial construction by the Court of Appeals of this State, in Renard vs. Hargous, (3 Seld., 259,) and the decision of the Court of Appeals in that case, in relation to the Superior Court of this City, will be found to sustain fully and completely this position. The right of the Recorder to issue writs of habeas corpus has never been drawn in question. If he has the power, the City Judge has also. If the City Judge has the power to grant a writ of habeas corpus, the statute leaves him no discretion as to the exercise of his right; for he would forfeit $1,000 to the party aggrieved were he to refuse to allow the writ, when legally applied to, besides being liable to impeachment if not indictment also. (3 R. S., 4th ed., 799, sec. 46.) This brings me to the consideration of the question submitted upon the merits of this application.

First—Is the affidavit upon which the warrant of arrest issued sufficient or not? I can see nothing in it, in a legal point of view, establishing the criminality of the Mayor. It is made by Mr. Conover, who claims to be the Street Commissioner of the City of New-York, and the substance of it is that on two occasions, to wit: on the 15th and 16th inst., he was thrust from the possession of his (alleged) official apartments by the violence of certain parties, and that one of them, Bennett, who is charged in the warrant with the Mayor, stated that it was by the direction of the Mayor, the latter not being shown to have been present, on the contrary conceded to have been absent, and there being not the least evidence beyond to connect him with the transaction more than the veriest stranger. Mr. Conover further states that he believes all the defendants conspired together to procure the said assault to be committed upon him. It would be altogether unnecessary to attempt to show that, upon no principle of law or reason can or ought a criminal complaint to be entertained upon a basis or foundation like this. The affidavit strikes me as clearly insufficient so far as the Mayor is sought to be implicated. The case of The People vs. Hicks, (15 Barb., S. C. R. 157,) to which I have been referred by the District-Attorney, does not, as I understand it, take away from me the right to examine the complaint for the purpose of seeing that the Recorder, by reason of something alleged in it, had the right to cause the arrest of the Mayor. In that case the Recorder (Theo.) upon a general affidavit showing the commission of a crime, instituted an examination to ascertain who were the perpetrators of it; and the court held that he had that right, as well as the right, by reason of his jurisdiction under the complaint, to inquire into the commission of other similar offences. That case involved the question of jurisdiction of subject matter. This case involves the question of jurisdiction of the person. It would be monstrous to say that under a general affidavit as to the perpetration of an offence, or that under an affidavit showing a prima facie case against certain parties, any number of persons could be arrested and detained in custody, whether implicated or not by the facts stated. If there was a reasonable color of jurisdiction on the part of the Recorder over the Mayor under the complaint, I might view the matter differently.

Second—Assuming the Mayor to have given the directions specified or mentioned in the affidavit, does not the privilege of his office guard him against arrest or imprisonment for what he said or did in that character or capacity? It was assumed as a fact on the argument of the application before me, that the Mayor was acting as a public officer—as Mayor—on the occasion adverted to. Granting this, I do not think the privilege of his office is perfectly absolute. Were he to abuse his office—act corruptly or maliciously, and without sufficient cause, and this fact should be established against him—the law would hold him responsible. It is a familiar principle that the abuse of power destroys the official character of an individual completely—entirely. The difficulty here is, that no such case is made out against the Mayor; and being conceded to be a public officer, and to have acted in that capacity, the presumptions of law are, in the absence of proof to the contrary, that what he did was in the execution or performance of his duty. On these presumptions, I choose to repose, in the absence of express testimony impugning them.

Third.—It was insisted by the learned District-Attorney, that until the Mayor was finally committed upon the charge in the warrant, by the Recorder, the present writ should not legally have been issued.

This certainly differs from the practice, as I have always understood it to exist. Every part of the statute relative to habeas corpus, shows that unless in the cases from which the writ is absolutely excluded, or in relation to which the proceedings upon it are expressly limited or qualified in their scope or extent by the statute, the intention of the Legislature was to provide a speedy mode of deliverance from unjust or unlawful imprisonment. It is a very common thing to issue a writ of certiorari (which differs from a writ of habeas corpus, in not requiring the person of the party in whose favor it is issued, to be produced on the return of it) to a magistrate while proceeding with the examination, which the statute contemplates after the arrest of an accused party, and before the magistrate has finally passed upon the case—that is, before he has decided whether he would commit the party or not; and yet the regularity of the writ is invariably admitted. A certiorari issued under such circumstances would be invalid, if the present proposition is tenable. Under my present convictions I cannot recognize the correctness of the position, and cannot therefore subscribe to the views of the learned District Attorney. Other points were raised and discussed on both sides, which I do not deem it necessary to pass upon. The conclusion I have arrived at is that the Mayor must be discharged from the custody of the Sheriff, unless the District-Attorney elects to proceed with the usual examination after arrest before me. Should he not so elect, the order of discharge must be absolute. Should he so elect, the examination can proceed in the customary way. This will save all the rights of the prosecution in the premises.

When his honor had concluded reading his decision,

The District-Attorney said: I understood your honor distinctly to say that you should not regard the affidavit. I therefore stopped in my argument upon that.

Judge Russell—I said that I did not regard the affidavit, except so far as it gave color of jurisdiction.

Mr. Hall—That was a thing I was about to argue on, when your honor stopped me. The point I took was that your honor had no right to argue on the affidavit—that you could not go behind the warrant; and then I was going on to show that even if you could look at the affidavit, it was sufficient. There I was stopped by your honor stating that you would not regard the affidavit.

Judge Russell—I do not regard it, except as to say whether the Recorder had a color of jurisdiction.

Mr. Hall—I understood your Honor that you passed distinctly on the affidavit, and to say it was sufficient. In the next place, your Honor does me an injustice. I certainly never took the ground that pending the return on a warrant, there could be no habeas corpus issued.

In regard to last observation which fell from your Honor, in regard to my election to go on, I do not know that I have anything to do in the matter at all. A complaint is made before a magistrate, and my duty never attaches, except in two ways: in the first place, after an indictment, my duty is to attend on the trial; and, secondly, when notice of a habeas corpus is served on me, it is my duty to attend on the hearing, and urge the reasons why the defendant should not be discharged on habeas corpus; but when the hearing on the return is ended, I conceive I have no right, nor can I let all subscribe in any possible way to your Honor's right to jurisdiction over the subject matter. I concede that you may have a right to acquire jurisdiction of the person absolutely, or to discharge or hold him to bail, but you cannot, except by certiorari, take possession of the subject matter.

Judge Russell—I have examined the question very carefully, and I am perfectly satisfied that my course is correct. I have no doubt that on a habeas corpus, where a person is arrested on a warrant, and before examination, I have full power to direct a hearing to be had before me, as magistrate.

Mr. Hall—And thus oust the Recorder out of his jurisdiction under the warrant?

Judge Russell—Yes, Sir.

Mr. Dean—I wish to refer my learned friend to several cases in Parker's Criminal Reports, in which it has been expressly held that a habeas corpus brings up before the magistrate the whole matter. The case of The People vs. Martin is one of the cases.

Mr. Hall—Up to the time that your Honor rules on it—the habeas corpus—but no further.

Judge Russell—I have no doubt whatever that I have jurisdiction. Do you decline to elect, Mr. Hall, to go on?

Mr. Hall—Yes, Sir. My opinion is that your Honor, having decided this habeas corpus, cannot continue to have jurisdiction.

Judge Russell—Then, Mr. Sheriff, here is an order directing the discharge of Fernando Wood.

On this announcement there was some commotion in the body of the Court, and an attempt to get up a cheer, which was quickly repressed by the police.

Mr. Hall—I wish not to be misunderstood. I do not refuse to elect, but decline to elect, because I think I have no such power, nor do I believe that your Honor has the power to compel me to elect.

The following is the order made by Judge Russell, and handed to the Sheriff, together with the endorsement by the District Attorney.

BEFORE CITY JUDGE—In the matter of the Writ of Habeas Corpus issued to inquire into the cause of the imprisonment of Fernando Wood, June 18, 1857.—This cause having been brought before me to test the legality of the arrest of Fernando Wood, for whose benefit this proceeding was had, and after hearing Gilbert Dean, Esquire, counsel for Fernando Wood, and A. O. Hall, Esquire, District Attorney for the people,

Ordered, That the said Fernando Wood be discharged from the custody of the Sheriff of the City and County of New-York, unless the District-Attorney elects to proceed with the usual examination after arrest before me; should he not so elect immediately, the order of discharge must be absolute; should he so elect, the examination can proceed in the customary way.

A. D. RUSSEL, City Judge.

Mr. Hall indorsed the order in these words:

"The District-Attorney declines to make any election, as proffered within, because he denies the right of the Judge to make any such conditional discharge, or to impose such an election upon him; and because he denies the right of the City Judge, without certiorari in aid of the habeas corpus, to go into any investigation or hearing on the merits, or by habeas corpus to change the right of this hearing from the magistrate who issued the warrant, unless by certiorari.

A. OAKLEY HALL, District-Attorney.

The order being handed to the Sheriff, the parties left Court, and Judge RUSSELL repaired to the Mayor's office.

In 15 minutes' time the notice given below was served upon the District-Attorney, to which the following answer was sent:

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW-YORK, }
DISTRICT-ATTORNEY'S OFFICE, June 18, 1857. }

To Hon. A. D. Russell, City Judge, Room No. 6 City Hall:

SIR: I have the honor to be in receipt of a notice in the following words:

"In the matter of the imprisonment of Fernando Wood.

Take notice, that the hearing upon the habeas corpus this day allowed by A. D. Russell, City Judge, on behalf of the above petitioner, will be heard before A. D. Russell, Esq., City Judge of the City of New-York at room No. 6 in the City Hall, in the City of New-York, on Thursday, June 18, 1857, immediately.

Dated Judge (so in original) 18, 1857.

Yours, &c., DEAN & DONOHUE,
Attorneys for petitioner.

To A. OAKEY HALL, Esq., District-Attorney."

Upon inquiry I learn that room No. 6 City Hall is the office of the Mayor; that the parties had met at the same place on the preceding Tuesday, June 17, in a habeas corpus, and from charges and adjournment was had to the public court-room of the General Sessions.

I have not the right to dictate where your Honor may make the writ of habeas corpus returnable, nor would it become me to criticize it, if I had. But as I must decline to attend upon such notice at the place designated, justice to my official position and respect for the Judge issuing the writ demand that I should give my reasons.

I was yesterday subjected to gross personal indignity in obeying the notice on the first writ for the same place, and that after announcing my official position and claims to entrance. The indignity was inflicted by apparent officials, with full knowledge of my errand, at the very door of Room No. 6 of the City Hall.

I am informed and believe that the City Hall is still guarded by a posse of men, in such a manner that I have fears for my personal safety, particularly as being in Court when the writ was applied for, I understood counsel for the petitioner to speak of the "necessity of the Mayor's continuing within his citadel."

Nor, without sacrificing self-respect and official duty, can I attend on a hearing of a public proceeding in a private place, guarded under the authority and by the direction of the prisoner against whom I am to appear. Your obedient servant,

A. OAKEY HALL.

To Hon. A. D. RUSSELL.

This letter was ordered to be delivered to the City Judge in person. The officer who bore it to the Mayor's office was met by Judge RUSSELL in the City Hall.

The Sheriff then made the ordinary return with the copy of warrants annexed under which he held them. Judge RUSSELL then adjourned the hearing for one week as follows:

BEFORE CITY JUDGE.

In the matter of the application of Fernando Wood for a writ of habeas corpus, June 18, 1857:

The above-named Fernando Wood being brought before me on habeas corpus this day allowed, returnable before me immediately, and the hearing of this matter being adjourned until the 25th day of June, at 12 o'clock, until judgment be given upon the return, ordered that the said Fernando Wood be committed to the custody of the Sheriff of the City and County of New-York, and to remain in his custody during all the time until judgment be given in the matter.

A. D. RUSSELL, City Judge.

Legal Proceedings Against Mayor Wood.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM.
Before Judge Duer.

Lemuel S. Slater vs. Fernando Wood—John G. Goodell vs. The Same—Wm. Pettis vs. The Same.—In these three suits, which with three others in the Supreme Court, and three others in the Common Pleas, were commenced day before yesterday by the injured Metropolitan policemen, Judge DUER granted orders of arrest, fixing the amount of bail in each at $5,000. The following is a copy of that in the first, the others being similar:

ORDER TO ARREST AND HOLD TO BAIL.

To the Sheriff of the City and County of New-York:

Samuel S. Slater against Fernando Wood.—It appearing to me that a sufficient cause of action exists under section 179 of the code, you are required forthwith to arrest the defendant in the action, and hold him to bail in the sum of $5,000, and to return this order to Field & Sluyter, plaintiff's attorneys, at their office, No. 69 Broadway, New-York, on the 19th day of June, 1857. JOHN DUER.

Dated, June 18, 1857.

Coroner Perry made the same affidavit in each case, a copy of which will be found below. The affidavits of the other plaintiffs, is, except with regard to the nature of the injuries, like that of Mr. Slater's below. The complaint in each case enumerates the same facts.

AFFIDAVIT OF CORONER PERRY.

City and County of New-York, ss.—Frederick W. Perry, sworn, says, that he is one of the Coroners of the City and County of New-York, and that he led the party of the Metropolitan policemen, by whose aid he endeavored to arrest the defendant on the 16th day of June, 1857, under the order of arrest issued by Mr Justice Hoffman; that on his first entering the City Hall he found a large body of men calling themselves the Municipal Police, marshaled and commanded by the defendant Wood, who occupied an office in one corner of the building, and under whose orders the said municipal police acted throughout; that when he endeavored to enter the Mayor's office he was stopped until a communication was made with said Wood and orders received from him; and that whatever was done, was done by the orders or under the direction of said Wood.

And this deponent further saith, that there were several hundred of the municipal policemen ranged in the City Hall, guarding every entrance and occupying the halls and passages. And this deponent further saith was the assault upon the said Metropolitan Policemen leaving from the north doors of the City Hall and from the basement of the said building.

And this deponent further saith that he, on the morning of the 17th instant, went to the City Hall to see the said Wood in reference to the arrest of the preceding day, when he was stopped at the outer door of the Mayor's office, and told by an official of the Mayor's office that though he was Governor he could not come in. The deponent stated that he wished to speak with the Mayor; the official replied in denying, "I will go and see if the Mayor is willing to see you." The policeman, "D—n'e let him in till I return" (he evidently assumed and acted deponent.) "Ha-ha! I'll go and ask the Mayor again!" This deponent remarked "He did not." The official asked again, "Have you?" The deponent said "Yes," and thereupon the Mayor was admitted and shown into the Mayor's office, where he found the said defendant Wood; and while this deponent remained in the said office the said Wood gave frequent orders to the said municipal police. Signed, W. F. PERRY.

Progress of the Atlantic Telegraph Enterprise.

New Developments Concerning the Central American Treaties.

Present Aspect of the Dispute between Spain and Mexico.

The mails by the Europa, from Boston, reached this City yesterday morning. Our European correspondence, by the arrival, extend from the 4th to the 6th of June. We extract from them some additional news of interest.

The record offered by this journal for the discovery of the murderers of Dr. BURDELL, is extensively noticed in the European press. Our French contemporaries view it as an argument against the security of American law, and as an evidence of the disorganized state of our social society. The Paris Constitutionnel, in an article on the subject, says: "Here is another proof that the United States is a country of a great deal of individual initiative, but of little government."

The King of Denmark has determined to dispatch the frigate Gefion, Rear-Admiral Tuxen, to the Chinese Seas. She is to be stationed at Macao during the impending hostilities.

The Atlantic Submarine Telegraph.

WORK FOR THE NAVY AND CORPORATION TO THE RIVER—PROGRESS OF THE VESSELS—PREPARATIONS FOR SHIPPING—THE GREAT TO RECEIVE HER PORTION OF THE CABLE.

From the London Times, June 5.

Yesterday afternoon the Lord Mayor, accompanied by a numerous party of the Corporation and other public authorities, made a visit to the works of Messrs. GLASS, ELIOTT, & CO., at Greenwich, for the purpose of inspecting the progress of the Atlantic telegraph, which, although hardly be called a public one, and it certainly was not private, for the party was very large, yet enough in figure to have attracted the Queen of Sheba. Its appearance on the river at such a wild hour was lively enough, for we were witnesses that never before and never, we hope, shall we be witnesses of such a spectacle. Steamers of all sizes, crowded to excess no small amount of human freight, and hundreds of those who dwell along the north bank on shaky piles, in stranded boats, or in floating tenements of every description, were astir at an early hour. The visit was an event in their dreary life of flood and ebb, and they testified their interest accordingly by lounging to the doors of the river houses in which they live, and watching the proceedings from outside. It was a feat worth seeing, first of the gentlemen who inspected the works will agree with us this morning that the sages of Rag story part is not a pleasant place in which to be hurled at low water. The shore is stony, and, as a general rule, unsavory in hot weather, when all the abominable flotsam and jetsam of the filthiest river in Europe evaporate enough miasma to poison an alligator. As an initiatory process, all the visitors had to walk from the barge to the shore along a narrow plank, and this necessitated some he was a boatman, rowing about the Quarantine anchorage, which was frequently done.

The Prosecutor rested the Matter, stating it was a question of fact for the Jury to decide.

Mr. Van Buren then addressed the Jury, on behalf of the prisoner, and was followed by District-Attorney Hall, for the prosecution.

The Recorder charged the Jury that the vessel in question was in a condition that would subject the defendants to all the penalties (if the evidence showed that he had violated the law) which they set forth; also, that under the first count of the indictment, which charged him with invading the quarantine anchorage without permission of the Health Officer, if they found he had so invaded the anchorage, they should find him guilty; and that under the second count they should be satisfied from the evidence that the prisoner had communicated with the vessel Emigrant Adams.

The Jury retired for an hour, and returned a verdict of guilty, under the first count, for invading the quarantine anchorage contrary to law.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—June 16.
Before Judge Betts.

The five seamen, on board the General Pierce, convicted of manslaughter in killing the master of the vessel, and one of them of murder, and the others of manslaughter in killing the cook, were brought up for sentence. Mr. Hall, their counsel, moved for a new trial, on the ground that the murder with war the only one that had been convicted of murder, while the others had been acquitted of that charge, and only found guilty of manslaughter, he was entitled to a new trial, on which he could have the benefit of their evidence. The Court, however, did not consider that ground for a new trial and proceeded to pass sentence on Smith, that on the 13th day of August next, between 9 A. M. and 2 P. M., he be hung by the neck till he be dead.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—June 18.
Before Judge Betts.

The grand jury presented Thomas Carter for the manslaughter of Jim Crow, a negro, on the high seas.

The case of the schooner Merchant, seized as forfeited for being fitted out for the slave-trade, was called again upon the calendar to-day. The claimants were ready, but the prosecution was not ready. Judge Betts said his rules about calendar causes must be enforced as well against the United States as any other party, and the claimants might call on the cause. Mr. Joachimsen, however, moved for an attachment against some of his witnesses, returnable to-morrow morning, and the case was finally laid over till that time, then to be proceed peremptorily.

The case against the steamer John Birkbeck took the same direction for the same reason.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The arguments of counsel before the Court of Appeals on the constitutionality of the new Police Law, were brought to a close yesterday, by Judge Emmet, who addressed the Court for the plaintiff, Fernando Wood, &c. Mr. Evarts, in opening, said, in his judgment the great need, in the existing state of affairs, of a prompt decision on the question involved, in consequence of which it is expected that in the course of the next week the decision will be rendered.

The Stocks were nearly quiet yesterday, except which the last selling of the City Hall Park, nor were there any sales reported about Mayor Wood was not before the Board, the day, of which very [illegible] having resulted in his discharge by Judge Russell. Before he was set at liberty, it was a case that saved his House—a [illegible] was found which was [illegible] forthwith at the Mayor's Office. Afterwards the hearing was adjourned for one hour, during which the Mayor had an interview with the Governor. During the day, of which very [illegible] were reported. Of the multitudinous [illegible] in Court against the Mayor [illegible] the condition of the wounded, of which [illegible] likely to discover the disposition of the [illegible] of other matters which everybody talked about yesterday, though at their homes and at their work, and not as on Wednesday in the public streets only, we give a full account this morning.

The Steamer's mails, from Boston, reached this City yesterday morning. Among the extracts, which we publish elsewhere, from our foreign exchanges, will be found an interesting account of the progress of the Atlantic Telegraph enterprise. Nearly 300 miles of the cable were completed on the Isle of Tom, and the operation of transferring the cable to the hold of the Agamemnon, was then about to be commenced. The London Times contradicts the reports that the Niagara was unfitted to receive half of the cable manufactured at Birkenhead. On the morning of the 5th inst., the Niagara left the Thames for Portsmouth Dockyard, where she will be arranged for the reception of the Liverpool portion of the wire.

The London Post, organ of Lord Palmerston, has a rather significant article on Central American affairs in which it doubts "whether the Clayton-Bulwer Convention can be reckoned among political things any more than the recently copulated Dallas-Clarendon Treaty." On more than one occasion the articles in the Post have foreshadowed the policy of the British Government with reference to Central American affairs, and this one, in particular, merits attention.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Times, in a letter dated the 29th ult., states that the hopes of an amicable and speedy adjustment of the quarrel between Spain and Mexico, which were founded on the arrival at Madrid of Señor Lerdo, the Mexican Negotiator, have not as yet advanced much towards a realization, and, upon the whole, the state of the affair cannot be considered satisfactory.

A letter from our correspondent on board the U. S. Steamer San Jacinto, now at Hong-Kong, gives some interesting and important information concerning the progress of hostilities in the Celestial empire. Our correspondent's account is the more valuable as it gives an American view of the Chinese troubles, while, with the exception of those letters published in this journal, all other accounts are usually received through British sources, and are, naturally enough, biased in favor of British interests.

Our Albany correspondence reveals a curious condition of affairs in our State Treasury Department. The last Legislature made appropriations amounting in the aggregate to over $8,100,000, and the whole amount which the Comptroller can command is less than $1,600,000. And of this amount the greater part is not yet paid in by the County Treasurers, there being due from the County of New-York alone the sum of $500,000. The time within which the law requires returns to be made by the County Treasurers having expired, the Comptroller has directed the Attorney-General to bring suits against the delinquents. Meanwhile the State may be considered in a state of bankruptcy.

Advices have been received from Topeka, Kansas, to the 12th instant. The Free-State Legislature succeeded in obtaining a quorum on the 11th, when Governor Robinson sent in his message. The Legislature have resolved to complete the State organization, and will enact laws and make provisions in view of future State elections. Our dispatches are contradictory as to the whereabouts of Governor Walker. Our correspondent says he is at Lecompton, making preparations to canvass the Territory, and another says he is at Topeka, where he has spoken twice, and is trying to defeat the action of the Free-State men. The first is undoubtedly nearest the truth.

The village of Corning, in this State, is suffering from the effects of a terrible freshet. The principal bridges have been torn away, a number of houses have been swept off, nearly all the cellars have been flooded, and communication between the upper and lower parts of the village has been entirely cut off. The destruction of property is very great, and the running of trains on the Erie Railroad has been temporarily suspended. At last accounts, however, the water had in a measure subsided, and the danger was considered past.

The deficit in the Ohio State Treasury is not far from $500,000. A report is now current at Cincinnati that, in consequence of the defalcation the July interest cannot be paid. The State officers are trying to make a loan, but their power to do so is doubted. The Legislature will be called together to consider the difficulty.

An emigrant train has been attacked by the Cheyenne Indians, about 30 miles West of Fort Riley, and entirely destroyed. Six persons were killed and four wounded.

Theodore Marinus Van Limburg was on Wednesday introduced to the President, and presented his credentials as Minister Resident of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands. The usual formal speeches were made on the occasion.

The Mansion House and two adjoining buildings at Cape Island, N. J., were totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday night. No damage was done to the other hotels.

In the Board of Aldermen, last evening, a resolution was adopted, directing the Counsel to the Corporation to conduct the defence of all suits brought against members of the Board of Aldermen as Councilmen, brought in consequence of any action taken in the appointment of Charles Devlin, Street Commissioner. They also resolved to sustain the Mayor by all legal means, and to manfully wait the sentiment shall have died away.

The Councilmen failed to get a quorum yesterday.

The National Guard left Boston last evening, at 7 o'clock, by the Stonington train, where they were to embark on board the Commodore C. Vanderbilt for New-York.

The Anti-Wood, state Reform, Convention of the City Democracy met, last evening, in the City Hall, Elijah F. Purdy, presiding, and examined into the result of the Ward organizations, adopted on Wednesday night. From the Third, Seventh and Ninth Wards reports were made that the organizations in those Wards were not complete, and a further extension of time asked for. The Sixteenth Ward returns were sent back, and Mr. Thomas Dunlap was appointed umpire to settle the differences in that Ward. From the Twenty-second the ticket headed Alexander Ward was received. The Convention then adjourned till Thursday.

The testimony in the matter of the "Burdell estate" before the Surrogate was closed yesterday. Evidence was introduced by counsel on both sides to impeach the testimony of several witnesses who had been examined during the present trial. A step-son of Mrs. Crane and also a nephew of her husband were called to impeach her character for truth and veracity. A motion is pending before the Surrogate for a commission to take the testimony of William C. Hyde of California, which he takes time to consider. If the commission be refused, the counsel will then make their final arguments in the case at such time as shall be hereafter agreed upon by themselves and the Surrogate.

Dominick Ragans, a boatman, was yesterday tried and convicted, in the Court of General Sessions, for a violation of the Quarantine Laws, in landing passengers to a vessel within the Quarantine anchorage contrary to the orders of the Health Officer. He will be sentenced to-day by the Recorder.

General Walker attended Wallack's Theatre last evening, made a neat speech, was escorted to the Lafarge House by a band of music and a crowd, where he again spoke from the balcony. He honored the Times with a left-handed compliment, and was followed by General Wheat and others—the band meantime playing "Hail Columbia," "Yankee Doodle," "Root Hog or Die," &c.

The fourth anniversary of the Mariners' Family Asylum, on Staten Island, near Vanderbilt's Landing, was held yesterday, with very interesting ceremonies, in presence of a very large attendance of visitors. The Asylum has thirty-five inmates at present, and its finances are in good condition.

At 7 o'clock yesterday evening a fire broke out in the smoke-house rear of the four-story brick building No. 861 West-street. The flames extended to and destroyed the front building. The loss on the stock amounts to $12,000. It was owned by Mr. Geo. C. Rand, a member of the National Guard, who is now in Boston. Insurance not known. The building was owned by Wm. B. Astor. Loss $5,000. No insurance.

The alarm for the Eighth District at 6¼ o'clock yesterday afternoon, was caused by the breaking out of a fire among some cases of glass bottles on the third floor of the building No. 144 Liberty-street.

The Recent Crimes of Fernando Wood and their Penalties.

Ten warrants were yesterday issued against Mr. Fernando Wood, in suits which have been brought against him by different policemen, who were wounded in the performance of their duty in endeavoring to arrest him, on the 16th instant. Four of these warrants were issued by Judge Mitchell, presiding Judge of the Superior Court, three by Judge Duer, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and three by Associate Justice Brady, of the Common Pleas. Mr. Wood was held to bail, on each of the ten charges preferred against him, in the sum of five thousand dollars—in fifty thousand dollars altogether. They will all be tried at the proper time, and the respective Juries who shall be called upon to decide the question of damages, may mulct him in the sum of ten thousand dollars, for the benefit of each separate individual who was injured at his instigation. Besides these ten warrants, an order was also issued, yesterday, by Judge Hoffman, of the Superior Court, requiring Wood to show cause, on Tuesday next, why he should not be punished for criminal contempt, in resisting process of the Court. The penalty for the contempt may be thirty days imprisonment, together with a fine of two hundred and fifty dollars, and it is also indictable as a misdemeanor, which is punishable with one year's imprisonment, and another fine of two hundred and fifty dollars.

On the civil warrant of arrest, at the suit of Mr. D. D. Conover, for riotous assault, during which he was injured, Mr. Wood was held to bail in the sum of five thousand dollars, and the damages which a Jury can find against him are ten thousand dollars. Under the criminal warrant for the same riotous assault, the Mayor is liable to heavy fine and to imprisonment. It will be recollected that Mr. Wood resisted the execution of both of these last warrants, and that, consequently, two more warrants were issued by the Recorder, which led to the final recognition by the rebellious Chief Magistrate of the Metropolitan Police which he had so long affected to despise. This tardy recognition, which was mainly due to the firmness and energy of Major-General Sandford, prevented the Mayor from plunging into a short but desperate career of still more reckless crimes, the consequences of which it is fearful to contemplate. As it is, the offences for which he has already been either arrested or prosecuted form but a small portion of those for which it is to be hoped that he will be brought to punishment, under the action of the laws and of our Grand Juries.

Section 81, of the late act to establish a Metropolitan Police, provides as follows:

"From and after the first meeting of the Board of Police, under the provisions of this act, it shall possess all the power and authority heretofore conferred by law upon the Board of Commissioners of Police of the City of New-York, or upon the Mayor, Recorder and City Judge of said City as Police Commissioners, " " and from and after the said first meeting of the Board of Police of the 'Metropolitan Police District,' the duty and authority and power of each and all of the aforementioned officers in relation to Police Government, appointment and discipline, SHALL WHOLLY CEASE."

This is THE LAW. Whatever the private views, or interests, or tastes of Mr. Wood might be in the matter, it was his bounden duty to set the example of acquiescence in it, until the question of its constitutionality should have been decided on by the properly constituted authorities. He has rendered himself liable by disobeying it: 1. To punishment for misdemeanor for every single separate instance in which he has exercised duty in defiance of the provisions of the Act. 2. To prosecution in indictment and damages for every trespass, and for each assault or battery committed by any member of the Municipal Police, all of whom received authority for their actions from him. 3. To all the penalties which the law awards for inciting to riot, by instructing officers to resist Conover by concerted action. To the death penalty, for murder, in your Crofort, which is most probable, shall not [illegible] his wounds. The New-York statute makes no distinction between a principal in the first and second degree, in cases of murder, or of accessories before the fact. "Every person," says the law, "who shall be a principal in the second degree to the commission of any felony, or who shall be an accessory to any felony before the fact, shall, upon conviction, be punished in the manner herein prescribed with respect to principals in the first degree." The third subdivision of the fifth section of the act, in the revised statutes, concerning crimes and punishments, under the title of "Crimes punishable with death," moreover declares that "killing shall be murder when perpetrated, without any design to effect death, by a person engaged in the commission of any felony." That the assaults with murderous weapons, and with intent to kill, instigated by Mayor Wood, on Wednesday last, were felonious, few in the community will question. Should the unfortunate Conover die from the stabs which he received, it may be taken for granted that the Grand Jury will take immediate action against those who caused his death, and the sad spectacle may be witnessed of the Chief Magistrate of this great City being put upon his trial for murder.

For the "Metropolitan" Policemen, in their assaults upon the "Municipals," were undoubtedly acting as the "posse comitatus" of the Coroner, in which capacity the most unreasonable supporters of our would-be Napoleon will be forced to recognize a quality of legality beyond cavil or denial.

Such are the melancholy results of the insane attempt of a disaffected executive officer to erect himself into a supreme judicial and legislative authority! Every private individual has an undoubted right to appeal from State legislation to the Constitution, in accordance with which the laws must be framed. But resistance to law, on the part of those whose duty it is to enforce it, is simply monstrous, and can only result in the riotous triumph of anarchy or the forcible victory of the law, whose reign, in a Republic, should be as peaceable as it is beneficent. An officer, reluctant to enforce the execution of a superior law, has no other choice than to yield unwilling obedience, or to resign his place. Disobedience and, above all, conspiracy to prevent the execution of an obnoxious statute, is equivalent to rebellion.

The Judicial Ally of the Mayor.

Every step which has been taken in the progress of the conflict between Mr. Wood and the constituted authorities of New-York, has given fresh confirmation to the growing popular conviction that the Mayor of the Metropolis has, for some time, been engaged in organizing a formal conspiracy against the public order of the community.

It is impossible for any candid person to read the report of the proceedings had before the City Judge Russell in relation to the Mayor's application for a writ of habeas corpus, without being satisfied that Judge Russell has made himself a party to such a conspiracy. The previous conduct of this functionary, in regard to the new Police, had afforded prima facie evidence of his absolute disregard of his duties and his responsibilities as a judicial officer. He continued to act as a "Commissioner" in concert with Mayor Wood, and to uphold the claims of Mr. Matsell as "Chief" of Police after the first meeting of the duly appointed Metropolitan Board, and thus clearly brought himself within the scope of the Statute providing for the punishment of all conspirators guilty of "obstructing justice or the due administration of law." (2 Rev. Stat., 4 edit., 874, sec. 8, sub. 6.) For it is not to be asserted for an instant that the act appointing the Metropolitan Board of Police Commissioners was not to be regarded by Judge Russell as a law binding upon himself until such time as it should have been decided by the competent Court to be unconstitutional; and this act provides that, "from and after the first meeting of the Board of Police of the Metropolitan Police District, the duty and authority of all and each the aforementioned officers, (the Mayor, Recorder and City Judge of New-York City,) in relation to police government, appointment and discipline, shall wholly cease and vest in the said Board of Police constituted by this act, except that the Mayors of Brooklyn and New-York shall be, with the Commissioners, members ex-officio of the Board of Police."

The authority of the Metropolitan Board having now been acknowledged by the Mayor, upon the effective persuasion of Major-Gen. Sandford, it remains to be seen in what way Judge Russell shall be held to account for his conspiracy with Mr. Wood to defeat the execution of a law of the State. Meanwhile a new light is thrown upon the Judge's past behaviour by his extraordinary conduct in the matter of the habeas corpus. He began by issuing a writ vicious in form—such a writ in fact as no Judge properly alive to the minute responsibilities of his office (and no Judge who trifles with the terms of so important a writ can be trusted with the substance of justice) could possibly have issued.

In the next place he adjourned the hearing upon the writ, originally made returnable to his office in Chambers-street, from that office to the Mayor's office—without presence of the body of the defendant—whereas, without having jurisdiction over the body, he could not legally change the writ once granted.

The District-Attorney appeared at the Mayor's office (into which he only obtained entrance after undergoing personal violence and insolence at the hands of the Mayor's officers) and there protested against the hearing of the writ in the private office of the defendant and in the presence of his disorderly personal retainers. Thereupon Judge Russell finally agreed to adjourn the proceedings to the Court of General Sessions, the District-Attorney waiving the production of the defendant's body.

The hearing came off yesterday, and resulted in the discharge of the Judge's accomplice. The consistency observable throughout the illegal course of Judge Russell's actions did not however, obtain between his observations made in the progress of the argument and the grounds taken by him in his final decision.

Indeed the direct reverse was so conspicuously the case as to justify and even to provoke an inference that the Judge's written arguments, like his public activity, must have emanated from a "power behind the Bench." For instance, the Judge said, in the course of his argument, that he "would not regard the affidavit"—the "affidavit was not before him"—and yet his first ground of discharge is "that the affidavit is insufficient to hold."

Moreover, Judge Russell, not meeting the argument of the District-Attorney against the jurisdiction, imagined a point never raised by the District-Attorney, which he combatted, to the effect that a writ of habeas corpus could not be issued between the issuing of a warrant, and the return of the defendant to the magistrate who issues it.

In short Judge Russell wasted a great many words in attempting to establish two points which we strongly suspect will not be accepted as good law by the courts or the people of the City or the State.

The first of these points concerns the virtue of official station, and goes to the length of asserting for the Mayor of New-York the same exemption from wrong that inheres in the King of Great Britain. The second affects the private rights of every citizen, and the value of all our courts of justice, and tends to decide that if Justice A. issues a warrant for the arrest of Mr. B., Mr. B., preferring that his case should come before his personal friend, Justice C., may have a writ of habeas corpus sued out, returnable to Justice C., who thereupon coolly says to the prosecutor of B., "I will discharge Mr. B. unless you elect to continue the case before me."

How Commissioner Devlin got his Office.

The nomination of Mr. Devlin to the office of Street Commissioner by Mayor Wood, the prompt action of the Board of Aldermen in confirming his nomination, notwithstanding that they had strenuously opposed him at first, and the extraordinary steps taken by them to induct him into office, have naturally excited a very lively curiosity on the part of the public to learn the secret of such remarkable proceedings. We believe that we can unfold a clue to the mystery, at least of the agreement of the Board of Aldermen and the Mayor, though the mystery of the nomination by the Mayor of a man like Mr. Devlin to an office of such importance as that of Street Commissioner, may be surmised, but cannot now be positively stated. It is well known that he was not the candidate of the Democratic members of the Board of Aldermen, who had vainly endeavored to urge upon the Mayor the nomination of another person. But, the necessities of the case were urgent, and the Mayor was determined that not only his own man should be Street Commissioner, but that he should have his own way in naming a successor to Captain Wilse, who has been translated to the Custom House to be the successor of Assistant Surveyor Ryneders, as Inspector of Ships. The difficulty was at last settled in caucus. Mr. Duffy, the brother-in-law of Alderman Wilson, was made Inspector of Ships, and Mr. Devlin was accepted by the Aldermen for Street Commissioner on the condition that the immense patronage of the office should be divided among the Aldermen by lot. All the best offices in the gift of the Commissioner were made up in parcels and numbered, and the prizes put into a hat, each Alderman being entitled to the number he might draw. No. 1, the highest prize, was drawn by Alderman Harms, of the Third Ward. This office is the Collector of Assessments—which has been considered the very best office in the City Government; and it was bestowed by the late Commissioner, upon his father, Joseph R. Taylor, who now holds it. Alderman Healy, of the Fourth Ward, drew the third prize, and the others, to the number of eleven lots, fell into the hands of the other Aldermen. At least, such is the secret that has leaked out of the caucus, and, though we cannot vouch for its absolute correctness, we have good reasons for believing it to be essentially true. It affords some solution of an otherwise most mysterious transaction. That there has been a monstrous fraud perpetrated upon the people, there can be no doubt, and before this matter of the Street Commissionership shall be finally disposed of, there will be developments made which will astonish the public, accustomed as they are to stupendous acts of rascality in connection with our Municipal Government.

More Rebellion.

From Washington—By Extraordinary Telegraph.

The Cabinet has been suddenly called together, and is now sitting in deliberation upon an extraordinary letter just received from the Collector of the port of New-York.

NEW-YORK, June 14, 1857.

TO THE PRESIDENT—Sir: The late instructions of the Treasury Department, requiring me to be vigilant in the execution of the Tariff Act of 1846, with the amendments of the last session, have induced me to reëxamine the legislation of Congress upon that subject, and I have come to the conclusion that those acts are unconstitutional. You are aware that my oath of office requires me to obey the Constitution of the United States, as well as the laws of Congress. Of course, if those laws are in violation of the Constitution, I must obey the Constitution, and disregard the laws. Now I am entirely satisfied that the Tariff Acts of 1846, and amendments, are a Tariff for protection, and not of revenue; and that they violate the Constitution of the United States, which permits Congress simply to raise revenue—not to protect one branch of industry at the expense of another. Under these circumstances, I have but one course to pursue, and that is, to disregard the Tariff, and to refuse to execute the Tariff laws, until they are declared to be constitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States. It is proper to say that the judgments of the District or of the Circuit Courts of the United States will not be sufficient to remove my constitutional scruples, or swerve me from my duty. Nothing short of the decision of the highest Court in the United States will be sufficient. You will please, therefore, to take notice, that, on the 1st day of July next, I shall stand by the Constitution, and uphold the rights of this locality. No duties will be collected, except such as may be necessary to pay the salaries of myself and the faithful band of officers who intend to stand by me in this emergency. I am proud to say that the Mayor of New-York, who, you are aware, is a master of constitutional law, approves of this course, and has promised to aid me, with the immense force at his command, in suppressing the indignation of the merchants, which may naturally be expected. Yours, respectfully,

H. J. R——D.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, June 18.

Mr. Pannell has been reappointed Surveyor of Customs at Wheeling. This completes the action of the Administration in all the cases where the commissions of Custom House officers have expired.

Baron Von Lerembe was yesterday introduced to the President by Assistant Secretary of State Appleton, and delivered his credentials as Minister of the King of the Netherlands. Mutual assurances of a desire to maintain the friendship which has always existed between the two Governments were expressed. Baron Von Lerembe was in full Court dress.

The President has officially recognized Jean Nottebeck as Vice Consul for Russia at New-York; Werner Dexsel as Consul for Baden at Baltimore, and Henrique V. Waud as Consul for Chili at Boston.

The examination just completed in the Coast Survey Office fully confirms the fact of sufficient depth of water in Long Island Sound for the passage of the Great Eastern.

The Cabinet, to-day, had a special meeting to consider the question of the overland mail to California.

The President has recognized Enrique F. Fallot as Consul from Chili, in New York.

It is said that Col. Richardson, of Illinois, has declined the Governorship of Utah.

Judge Sprigg and United States Marshal Dodson, of Utah, have arrived here.

Gen. Walker's Letter to the President—Costa Rica and the Transit—The Overland Mail Contract.

Correspondence of the New-York Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 16, 1857.

The letter addressed by Gen. Walker to the President, in relation to the position which he held in Nicaragua, and the conduct of Capt. Davis, of the St. Mary's, in the forcible seizure of the schooner Granada, while under the Nicaragua flag, and in Nicaraguan waters, was delivered to the President to-day.

It appears that in Gen. Walker's interview with the President, he made some remarks upon the improper interference of Capt. Davis, as the cause of his return, and that the President requested him to reduce the statement to writing. There was no conversation between the President and Gen. Walker in relation to the affairs of the latter, except that Gen. Walker alluded to Capt Davis' acts, and the President requested him to reduce his statement to writing. The letter itself was sent to you by mail.

I understand that it is Gen. Walker's intention to return to this city on his way to the South, in five or six days.

I do not know that he has any fixed plan as to his return to Nicaragua, but, as he has appealed to the people, he will probably await some popular movement in his behalf.

The President has been consulted in regard to the means of reopening the Nicaragua Transit, by several parties, and, upon one point, he has made up his mind, and declared, yesterday, that he would not permit Costa Rica to interfere with the transit. The claims which Costa Rica makes to the Transit are founded, not only upon former territorial disputes with Nicaragua, but upon a right of conquest. The President admits neither claim. Costa Rica will find, he thinks, that her claims, upon which the President has made two emphatic grants of a right to the Transit, will be resisted by other States of Central America.

Meanwhile, parties have gone to Costa Rica, with a view to procure less impracticable grants, and to obtain also the assent of Nicaragua to them.

The contract for the overland mail to San Francisco is likely to be given either to the Express Companies who propose St. Louis as the shortest point, or to Mr Birch, the California contractor, who proposes to start from Memphis.

Governor Gardner and staff reviewed the Seventh Regiment, of New-York, this afternoon. At 6 o'clock the regiment, under the escort of the First Regiment and National Lancers, left their quarters at the Revere House, and marched to the Providence depôt, whence special trains left for Stonington. They started at 7 o'clock for home, an immense crowd of citizens heartily cheering, and wishing our cousins to the glorious Seventh Regiment of New-York.

Movements of General Walker.

General Walker is an early riser, said to be habitually so—at any rate, he got the start of the reporters yesterday morning, having left his quarters at the Lafarge House before 7 o'clock in the morning, and, notwithstanding the most industrious efforts to find him, he completely eluded pursuit. It was said he took breakfast with General Henderson, in Twelfth-street, but we could not trace the rumor to any authentic source. Other reports stated that he had gone to Brooklyn, to spend the day with a friend, but, so far as could be learned, he had not been seen after passing out of the door of the Lafarge at the unreasonable hour above mentioned.

Another rumor prevailed that the General and his friends would be serenaded by Dodworth's Band during the evening, on which occasion he would deliver himself upon Nicaraguan affairs generally, but this story, like all the others, could not be traced to any certain source.

The last rumor and the only one that seemed to possess any feature of truth, was that he would visit Wallack's Theatre in the evening, which had a show of authority in the shape of sundry large placards pasted through Broadway, which read as follows:

"GEN. WILLIAM WALKER VISITS WALLACK'S THIS EVENING."

Having failed to get a sight of the great filibuster, during the day, our Reporter contented himself with stopping at Brady's, in Broadway, and taking a look at his reputable photograph, redeeming, indeed, the terribly scaly counterfeit of him that the same artist's ambrotype presented.

THE GENERAL AT WALLACK'S.

The Theatre was unusually crowded, in anticipation of seeing Gen. Walker. Shortly before 8 o'clock he entered the house, with Gen. Henderson and lady, Capt. Faysoux, Col. Warren, Gen. Cazneau, and others, and took a seat in Box No. 3, which had been reserved for him. His presence was greeted with cheers. When the curtain had dropped, at the close of the second act, the calls for Walker grew tumultuous, and he rose up and addressed the audience as follows:

GENERAL WALKER'S SPEECH.

Permit me, in returning my thanks to you for their expressions of your sympathy, to return those thanks by referring to a scene painted by the great dramatic poet of the century. When Jeannie Deans went to the Duke of Argyle to beg the life of her sister, she was the tenant of her country; after speaking her suit with impassioned earnestness, she said to the Duke, "I thought your Grace's heart would warm to the sight of the injured." He answered, "When the heart of Macaulay Mure ceases to warm to the sight of the tartan, may it cease to beat, and he will make the sad." And I say now—"When that day shall come to beat in favor of the Manifest Destiny of my native land, and to cook meeting of my countrymen, may it cease to beat, and be laid under the sod."

Gen. Walker sat down amidst cheers and the waving of handkerchiefs from the ladies, prominent [illegible]

among whom was Mrs. General Cadwalader and her lady friends, who occupied the opposite box.

The General and his staff left the Theatre at the close of the first play, a band of music having already arrived and commenced playing in the street. He was escorted to the Lafarge House, where the band halted and struck up "Hail Columbia."

General Walker soon appeared upon the balcony.

General Walker said: "This outpouring of the heart proves that the cause of the Americans in Nicaragua is the cause of the Americans in the United States. Nothing but the deepest popular sympathy—nothing but the real instincts of the people can elicit such self-expressions of sympathy, and I hope that they are not merely expressions of sympathy for the past, but are guarantees of hope and encouragement for the future. I hope that the war in Central America is not ended—that there is a truce and nothing more. For myself I feel there has been too much noble blood shed on that soil to allow it to sink into the ground—it must rise and produce most glorious fruits for the future. One of our bitterest enemies has given us hope, one of your morning papers has thought proper to express the opinion that I have to attribute my success but luck. I am proud of such a compliment from an enemy. When the Roman General returned from the war they were accustomed to congratulate him for his sagacity, his wisdom and his courage, and to exclaim that more than all he was favored by the gods. I feel proud of such a compliment to myself and to the cause in which we have been struggling; and I have no doubt that the gods who have carried me thus far through the war, and have not suffered our cause wholly to fail, will yet carry it forward to the entire accomplishment of whatever is for the glory of the American people."

The band played "Yankee Doodle," and then a call was made for Gen. Wheat, who came out and spoke at considerable length, in which he said the cause of freedom in Nicaragua was not dead; that Gen. Walker was going back stronger than he ever was before; that upon his second coming he would be welcomed as the greatest man in the western world, &c.

E. K. Wing, Col. Hall, Col. Scantlebury and others spoke and the band continued to play until a late hour, notwithstanding a drizzling rain.

I only regret that the Navy has not in this exponent of its rights and wrongs an editor, who has the ability and inclination to show up its beauties and beasts, lights and shades. I heartily wish every one of our nations' legislators who makes a move towards reform in the Navy success. The institution only needs to be seen as it is, by the people,—who know less of it than any other of our "Democratic institutions"—and we will have what is consistent with our Democracy, a republican Navy, and not what it is now, a nursery of vices and the hot-bed of aristocracy.

I never heard tell of a man who ordered the sea to be whipped because it would persist in being unruly; whether the sea obeyed or not I have never learned.

There has been no reform in the Navy as yet, for the reason, I suppose, that Milton gives, that

"Devils with devils damned, firm concord hold,
Men only disagree."

Since the departure of the mail on the 15th of March, little of importance has occurred to disturb the equanimity of the dwellers in China, affairs remaining in status quo. The events of the past month I will briefly sum up; of war news there is but little to give; miscellaneous some, and of Coolie horrors much.

I am able to give you from reliable sources, as follows: Yeh, the Governor of Canton—who, with Admiral Seymour, are by far the most conspicuous personages on the stage of action in China—still continues to issue his proclamations to his countrymen, hurling his anathemas and breathing his blessings out upon the heads of the barbarians in no very mild terms. By barbarians, of course he means especially the English, whom he loves with an everlasting love. I must say that Yeh shows great ability in the composition of his epistles. That he is a ruler possessed of great energy and ability has been clearly proven since the breaking out of the present war. Prompted and provoked to harsh and cruel conduct by the arrogance and outrages of the English, misrepresented by them, he should not be misunderstood and judged too harshly of at home. I believe Americans sufficiently understand Englishmen to know how totally unprincipled they are when speaking of an enemy, and how prone to villify and detract. It should always be kept in view by Americans that the Chinese are to them more friendly by far than to any other people. When the cry of "foreign devil" is howled in the ears of an Englishman, the American is pointed and recognized as "our American brother." This was the case previous to the present war,—even in the southern part of the Empire where the people are more hostile to foreigners than in any other part. In the north it was perfectly safe for Americans to go two hundred miles into the interior, and it was common for missionaries to go fifty or sixty miles into the interior in the discharge of their duties. That the English are intensely jealous of this fact is very evident; that they rejoice with a joy unspeakable, but not full of glory, that we are in trouble with the Chinese is equally evident. We were fast monopolizing the tea and silk trade, a traffic which for very good reasons England wishes to pass exclusively into her hands. Here then is the key to British rejoicing over our participation in their troubles in China. That she wishes us to "lose caste" there is no doubt. To any resident foreigner whose judgment is unbiased, it is plain that English policy tends only to one thing here in the East—self aggrandisement.

The English treatment to the Chinese is almost invariably cruel and unjust. By keeping these facts in view, and also that the ways of the Chinese are not our ways,—they being an exclusive people,—we will not, perhaps, so strongly sympathise with those who cry "war to the knife." What has been done by the United States Squadron of late in China, could not be avoided, and was no doubt just, but for the sake of our best interests let us wish for no more trouble with this people, as accounts of the state of affairs here will go to the world through English channels. I would advise people to believe only one-half of what they read and hear from that source. One fact I have observed, that those speculating gentry here who call themselves Americans,—who have been acquiring wealth at the price of Chinese blood, finding that the Chinese were not so easily bullied as they supposed, are now the first and loudest to sing the song of peace. But I am rambling from my subject.

Troops are arriving here almost weekly. The H. Company's steamer Lucifer and H. B. M. steamer Inflexible arrived on the 26th and 28th of March, the latter having one of the long expected fleet of gunboats (Sterling) in tow. The first was laden with native troops. The arrival of these troops has given the denizens of Hong Kong a greater sense of security than they have enjoyed since the commencement of the war.

Military operations for the past month have been as follows: On the 12th of March H. M. steamship Hornet, and tender, near the island of Tan Shan, about ninety miles from this place, a fleet of nineteen piratical junks. Out of twenty-four only five escaped. This, from all accounts, was the affair of the season. The junks were attacked by the ships' boats, which pushed in amongst them, pouring in a deadly fire of musketry into the crowds of Chinese who were prepared to repel boarders. The action lasted for one hour, and resulted as above. The British loss was none killed and one wounded; Chinese loss very great, though not exactly known. The island of Tan Shan is known as the burial place of Sir Francis Xavier. He came here from his Japan Mission in 1551, and died the following year.

At Canton and on the river everything is quiet. The cries of the factories, &c., are being rapidly removed by the Chinese, and probably ere this there is not "one stone left on another." The gardens have been totally destroyed by digging salt into the soil.

On the 9th of April Commodore Elliot made a boat attack upon a fleet of thirteen war junks, and took and destroyed all of them. The Chinese resisted stoutly, making a great deal of use of their matchlock wooden, iron pots. As usual, their loss was large; on the side of the English none killed and only one man wounded.

As to the doings of the United States East India Squadron, Commodore Armstrong not awaiting advice from his government, which will, no doubt, be given by the next mail, prevented the 5th of the month. We are at a loss to know how our doings out here will be received by the government and people at home. I hope the Commodore will be sustained and upheld by the powers that be. Much as I regret the injury done to our interests by this war, yet I must say that in the attack and destruction of the Barrier Forts by the Americans, we simply did what was right. We await the judgment of the great unwashed however.

The U. S. steamship Portsmouth started on the 11th of April for Singapore, to investigate the whig's and wherefore's of the hauling down of the American flag by the British authorities on the bark Henrietta Maria, whose Coolie history will be found in this epistle. I send you a version of the affair clipped from the Friend of China of April 4. Of its truth I cannot speak, for this is the English of it. I think a dinner party will settle it all.

The U. S. ship Levant is at Shanghae undergoing repairs, upon the completion of which she is to proceed to Hong Kong.

We are most anxious on this ship for our orders home. The East Indian is a most delightful station to leave. An active two years' cruise in these seas is all that should be required. There can be no greater punishment inflicted upon an officer of the navy than to be ordered to the East Indies. The Coast of Africa is preferable to it. We have been rejoiced that we are brought nearer home by the establishment of a semi-monthly mail. Let those having friends in this part of the world send no mail matter to them via California, for in nine cases out of ten they will fail to receive it. Send via England.

A report reached Shanghae a short time since that the rebels had taken the important city of Ho-how, in the black tea district. This or some other cause has very materially affected the tea market, that article having doubled in price within the last four or five months.

The rebels are in force near Canton. The soldiers and militia having collected to seize and fight the rebels in the district of Ching Gen and Loy che, having entered the mountain district, were inclosed and surrounded by the rebels and several thousand of them put to the sword. In some of the provinces in the south famine prevails; many of the poor are coming to Hong Kong to save themselves from starving. Rice is enormously high and scarce in the interior, as also it is everywhere in China.

Of crimes and casualties there are legions. There is certainly an excess of the first; murders are common in Hong Kong; a case of poisoning now and then lights up the background. On the night of the 1st of April the Government auctioneer, Mr. Marquick, was strangled to death in his bed, and robbed by the Chinese in his employ. Seamen are frequently murdered, and very rarely is it that the murderers are caught.

The American steamer Antelope, belonging to the firm of Russel & Co., having grounded on a rock off Taichow Bay was forced to throw overboard some $13,000 worth of tin and other freight, to lighten her before she could be got off. The Antelope is Boston build, and only the fact that she was unusually strong saved her from "breaking her back."

I have to record the loss of the British bark Challenger, Clanson commander, about one days' sail southerly from Shanghae, by striking a rock. Officers and crew reached Shanghae in the boats.

The American bark Sea Nymph reached Shanghae on the 1st of March, and reported as follows: "That when in lat. 29° 50" N., lon. 121° 41' E., she sent boats o the Hamburg brig Foss, and found that she had been deserted apparently about one month, and in a hurry. She appeared to have a general European cargo on board, most of which was under water."

You have no doubt heard of the loss of the American whaler Alex Mandell, which was lost sometime about the 1st of last month. The last remaining boat, supposed to have been lost, containing the fourth mate and seven seamen, arrived here on the 16th of last month, they having reached Macao on the 13th in a state of great exhaustion. This was the boat which the San Jacinto went in search of, but failed to find.

Of "coolie horrors" there is a legion. Weekly and sometimes daily, we hear of some tragedy that—even in this now bloody land, where a dweller therein gets hardened to the recitals of bloodshed—makes the blood run cold. Were I to enumerate the full particulars of each tragedy it would take up more space than you or I have to spare.

The British ship Gulnare, 1,100 tons register, left Swatow for Havana, on the 11th of March, with a cargo of coolies. On the morning of the 19th, they in a body attacked the third mate and sentry in the forepart of the ship, yelling like a pack of devils. The officers and crew rushed to the rescue and saved the mate and sentry, who were seriously wounded. The coolies fought like tigers, and in some cases were fairly cut to pieces before they could be driven below. After that they still continued the fight, throwing up billets of firewood, etc. Finding they could not regain the deck, the coolies broke up their berths and set fire to the ship in the main, mizzen and poop hatchways. The leaders in the incendiarism were forthwith shot down, when the rest extinguished the fires. Ten of the coolies were killed, three drowned and fourteen wounded, several jumped overboard on the passage of the ship to this place, where she arrived on the 18th of March.

The American ship Cœur de Lion arrived at this place on the 15th of March, and reports that on the 26th of February a bark was descried in an apparently unmanageable state. Upon boarding her she was found to be the Dutch bark Henrietta Maria, which left Macao in February last with a cargo of coolies, bound for Havana. A disturbance had occurred between the crew and coolies, in consequence of which the officers and crew, except four, had left the vessel. Two hundred and forty Chinamen left at the same. The remainder of the crew, with sixty coolies, had been knocking about the China seas ever since, until fallen in with by the Cœur de Lion. The Captain of this ship placed his mate in charge, ordering him to proceed to Singapore. One of the seamen had received three stabs from the Chinamen, who had complete possession of the vessel. The Captain and his company are supposed to have reached the main land, and fallen into the hands of the Chinamen.

The Peruvian ship Carmen left Swatow on the 1st of March for Callao, with seven passengers and a cargo of 200 Coolies. On the 8th of March, when off the Great Natamas, about 8 P. M., the interpreter warned the Captain that the Coolies meditated a revolt, intending to take the ship. They were forthwith sent below; all was quiet until the next morning, when the Coolies were permitted to come on deck. Whilst the crew were at breakfast the Chinese went forward and threw into the hold a quantity of burning straw, upon which the officers and crew armed themselves, and forcibly drove the Coolies below, fastening down the hatches. The powder was thrown overboard, and an attempt made to quell the flames, but in vain; they spread over the whole ship in a few minutes, scarcely giving time for the hoisting out of the boats, without water, provisions or compass. Finding that there was no sail in his boat, the Captain returned to the ship for one; this was the last that was seen of him. About this time some of the Coolies forced the hatches and took to the rigging; the masts soon went by the board carrying all with them. It is supposed that the Captain's boat went down with the ship, which soon sunk. The most of the Chinese were suffocated by the smoke—all of them perished except an interpreter, from whom it was ascertained that it was the intention of the Chinese to have murdered the officers and crew, and to have beached and plundered the vessel.

You are, perhaps, sickened by the recital of these "horrors," and have had a surfeit of narrative of the same. That this atrocious trade should be allowed by Christian nations, is a matter of surprise and grief. The interests of humanity should make the traffic piracy. That the traffic should be carried on by civilized men, is only another evidence of fact that men are dead to all that is right, just and humane, when gain is the lever that moves their impulses. Why, Sir, we have some hats in China, Americans, who are engaged in this and the opium traffic, who would spit the gray hairs of their old mother's head, and snatch the bread out of their children's mouths, did they but hope to aggrandize themselves by so doing. The sum and substance of villainy is centered among foreigners here in China. I no longer wonder at the term "outside barbarians." These are the men who, in the forcible and impressive language of naval officers, "entertain so finely," where grand dinners and fine wines blind our officials to all that is right and wrong. These are the men whose battles we are fighting and rights protecting. "Take it and eat it up; and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth sweet as honey."

As for commercial news, I have but little to communicate. Silks are high owing to the increased demand. There will be over 100,000 bales exported this year. Teas are also high and rising in price. The teas most in demand here are Rice and Flour. Rice is hard to be had at $20 and $22 per barrel; the latter at $4 50 per piecul. Freights and tonnage—freight now Shanghae to London, 42s to £2 10s; for Tea, 40 for silk. To New-York, 45 per 40 feet.

Exchange at Shanghae, 31st of March, on London 4/12; India, three days sight, 216 to 218 rs. per £1.

The following American vessels are in this harbor at this date: Black Prince, Joseph Peabody, Marshall, Mary Wateridge, Maher, North Wind, Progressive Age, Bagwell, Torrent, Winged Arrow and Wizard.

The health of the officers and crew is generally good.

HAULING DOWN THE AMERICAN FLAG IN SINGAPORE BY BRITISH AUTHORITIES.

From the China Mail, April 15.

It appears by a private letter received from Singapore, dated March 20, which was kindly submitted to us for perusal, that the Dutch bark Henrietta Maria (whose Coolie history our readers are already acquainted with) on her arrival at that place, at once became a matter of investigation for the authorities; and as the Dutch brig of war De Heat was daily expected there, the vessel, with all documents, &c., belonging to her, would be turned over to the Dutch Government for their consideration and adjudication. Capt. Crawford, of the Henrietta Maria, was summoned before Hon. H. McKenzie, Lieutenant Governor, and informed that a detachment of officers and men from the De Heat, which had just arrived, would take command of the vessel the next morning and proceed with her to Batavia; the Lieutenant-Governor remarking at the same time that Mr. Williams, the American Consul, could have no authority whatever in the matter, and that Capt. Crawford with his crew being the rightful claimants of the vessel must act accordingly. Mr. Williams also, at the same time, received an official letter, notifying him of the transfer. Mr. Anthon, American Vice Consul, then wrote an official note to Capt. Crawford, authorizing him at once to hoist the American flag on board the Henrietta Maria, which was accordingly done at 5.45 P. M. At sunrise the following day, the colors were again hoisted, and at 8 A. M. Mr. Vaughan, assistant Resident Councillor, went on board expecting to meet the Dutch Commander, and intimated to Captain Crawford that he had acted exceedingly rash, and injudicious, and questioned his authority; but was informed by Captain Crawford that he had the official document in his pocket by virtue of which he had acted. Mr. Vaughan, after some further conversation, then left, saying that as he, the Captain, seemed determined not to yield the flag quietly, it would be the duty of the Governor to use compulsory measures, and that he should immediately inform his Excellency.

Shortly afterwards Mr. Vaughan again returned, and requested to be allowed to haul down the American colors, and deliver the vessel over to the Dutch commander. Capt. Crawford firmly refused, upon which Mr. V. went on board the English frigate Spartan and returned with an armed force, which being drawn up in array, he walked up to Capt. Crawford, took the halyards from his hands, signalling immediately after to the Dutch brig-of-war to come on board, which they did, and the vessel was delivered over to their charge. The next day the De Heat set sail for Batavia, with the Henrietta Maria in company, Capt. Crawford and two of his men still remaining on board, the Governor and Dutch Consul having assured them that their claims will be paid them in Batavia.

The affair appears to have caused considerable excitement in Singapore, many parties looking upon it as a great national outrage upon the American flag; but of this we shall be better able to form an opinion when we are in possession of fuller particulars. One great question appears to us to arise as to how far the Vice Consul, Mr. Anthon, was justified in ordering the American colors to be hoisted on board the Henrietta Maria, knowing that negotiations were pending for her delivery over to the Dutch authorities, and which would in no way vitiate the claims of Capt. Crawford and his crew. Taken altogether, it appears to be one of those hasty and inconsiderate acts, of which Consul Parkes has already set the example in Canton, but which happily will not be attended with the like result.

THURSDAY, June 18—P. M.

The changes in Money affairs to-day are not important. Some fair 60 to 90 days paper was taken at 9 ₱ cent., and strictly prime at 8 ₱ cent. These are a little dearer rates than ruled early in the month and indicate some preparation for the more active mercantile employment of Money under the new Tariff. At a few of the large banks, the offerings for discount this week are quite full; others report a falling off. For the moment, general trade is dull, and at the same time there is not much speculative employment for money in Wall-street. Most of the active shares dealt in on the Stock Exchange are relatively scarce. Of the stock and bonds of four of the prominent Railroads, costing together a hundred and ten millions of dollars, we estimate that the Street is carrying, at present prices, less than three millions, all told, say $2,000,000 value in shares, and $1,000,000 in bonds—the last an outside calculation. The recent heavy fall has not only lessened the value, but the number of shares held among the Brokers. These facts account in part for the continued and very marked ease in demand money loans, while the shipments of Bullion are going on at the rate of $2,500,000 to $3,500,000 a week. This week a prominent banking firm, who have not hitherto, this Summer, been exporters of Gold, will ship about $500,000 by the Collins steamer on Saturday. The two steamers sailing on that day will, from present appearances, take about $1,700,000. Nevertheless, the Bank average for the week promises well, and we hear no complaint of the running down of the reserve from any of the Wall-street banks. We remark, however, that the tendency of the late almost general increase in their capitals, has been to modify the views of some of the managers as to the necessity of carrying a large amount of Specie. They cannot well afford to do it and keep up their 8 or 10 ₱ cent. dividends on their enhanced capitals, since the increase in the actual or undrawn line of deposits cannot in all cases be made to correspond. To say nothing of the wisdom of the change of policy, it seems quite certain the $10,000,000 a minimum of Specie average is likely to be decried by even the "conservative" bankers of the Street, as quite sufficient on the enhanced capital of $60,000,000—the general features of the trade and finances of the country, (including the all-important point of the growing crops, which now promise almost universal abundance,) being all right. The business of the Sub-Treasury, on both sides the account, has fallen off very much this week. The receipts to-day were only $42,197, and the disbursements $63,271. The balance this afternoon $11,649,693.

The Stock Market opened weak at the early Board, but on the second call of the list, and at the second session of the Brokers' acquired considerable strength, and left off higher than yesterday. The business done was not, at first, up to the usual average amount, while the bidding for cash stock, as the day progressed, by a prominent operator who has the reputation of having recently shifted to the Bull side, was quite spirited. This was especially marked in New-York Central, Erie, Southern Michigan and Toledo. Several of the Western stocks were neglected, and the few sales made were at lower prices; Pittsburg, 40; La Crosse, 71¼; Galena, 90; and Illinois Central, 138¾. The general market left off firm; Erie, 32¾; Central, 82¾; Reading, 72¾; Michigan Southern 46¾, seller 10 days; and Toledo, 58¾ ₱ cent. The Bond list rules dull.

The foreign mails by the Europa, at Boston, to June 6 from Liverpool, and to the 5th from London, advise nothing important in American Stocks. Prices keep steady, and the quotations for Illinois Centrals, Eries and Southern Michigan are relatively from 3 to 5 ₱ cent. ahead of this market, though made on our higher quotations of May 18. The movement of the precious metals since the sailing of the Fulton and Vanderbilt was again large. From Australia, $3,000,000, and from Boston $1,000,000. In a day or two the Asia, from this port, would be in with $1,500,000. The Bank of France bullion for the month was reported $6,250,000 higher, and the bank of England, for the week ending May 30, $1,185,000 higher. [A typographical blunder in Wilmer & Smith says lower.] The reserve in the latter is again over ten millions sterling. Consols closed in London, by the circular advices, 94 ₱ cent. for money. A later telegraphic dispatch says full 94 ₱ cent. The Cotton trade reported fair, and Breadstuffs, owing to the fine weather at home, had relapsed into dullness. The Bank of British North America, which has an agency in this City, had declared a regular half-yearly 3 ₱ cent. dividend, and also, an extra 3 ₱ cent. dividend, carrying a liberal surplus to the account of reserved profits. We copy in another place an interesting leader from the London Times, on the English Railway system and its profits, suggested by a general movement among stockholders to have this interest better cared for by the Government. Several of the suggestions of the writer are not wholly inapplicable to the state of things in the American Roads. The British Export list of the first quarter of 1857 has been published, footing up £28,827,000 sterling, or at the rate of five hundred and seventy-five millions dollars ₱ annum. Deducting the proportion to the distant Colonies of the Empire, the Foreign Export Trade proper, for the year, would indicate in British manufactured fabrics about $410,000,000, while the Exports to Foreign Countries of the United States in ordinary American Produce, is but little short, this year, of $300,000,000, and $65,000,000 in the produce of our Gold mines. During the quarter just mentioned Great Britain exported

To the Colonies	£3,191,090
To the United States	6,381,720
To France	1,681,678
To Germany	2,692,980
To other States	10,030,061
Total, 3 months	£28,827,498

The Land sales of the Illinois Central Company the first two weeks in June were to the value of $284,664, or 21,445 acres, at an average of $13 30 ₱ acre. The entire sales in June last year were $241,291.

London Money Market.

From the London Times, June 5.

Short loans on Government Securities were in extreme demand at from 6¼@7 ₱ cent., and but for the accommodation afforded by the Bank of England the dealers would have found considerable difficulty in arranging the account.

The pressure for money and the discontinuance of purchases on account of the savings banks have caused a resection in Exchequer bills, which renders it not improbable that some considerable portion of the amount dated in June will be sent in for payment instead of for renewal on the 8th inst. In that case the Government balances at the Bank will have to be drawn upon, and the supply of money in the market will be temporarily increased. The final quotations to day were 4s. discount to par for the June descriptions, and par to 5s. premium for those of March.

The activity in the discount-market to-day, and the extent of the applications at the Bank consequent upon the settlement in the Stock Exchange and the ordinary commercial requirements of the 4th and 5th of the month, are believed to have been extraordinary. The amount of bills falling due to-morrow is heavy, but when these shall have been met a short period of comparative ease may possibly be experienced.

The final quotations of the French three per cents. on the Paris Bourse this evening were 65f 85c. for money and 66f. 20c. for the end of the month, showing a recovery of nearly ¼ ₱ cent. The fall yesterday is stated to have been caused by a forced closing of some of the accounts of needy speculators.

The price of silver is firm, at 5s. 1½d. ₱ oz., standard, owing to the Eastern demand. The price relined for the remittance by the packet which arrived from the West Indies in the middle of last month was 5s. 1½d. ₱ oz.; but in the interval higher rates have been paid.

From the London News, June 5.

It is calculated that operators for the rise who have during the last six months maintained their position, and paid the rates of "continuation" current at each settlement, must have made a loss of about 4 ₱ cent., taking Consols at the closing quotation of to-day. It is not, therefore, matter for surprise if some of those speculators should evince a disposition to close their accounts. The pressure for money in the Stock Exchange, in connection with the monthly settlement, was to day unmitigated, as much as 8 ₱ cent. ₱ annum being paid in exceptional cases to carry over speculative purchases.

The demand for money was again active to-day in nearly all quarters, and a good commercial demand is anticipated to-morrow. In endeavoring to read the future of the market, it must not be overlooked that, although the drain of silver to the East is so severe that the next steamer is expected to take out fully a million sterling in silver, the position of the Bank of France has decidedly improved. It is reported in Paris that the stock of specie and bullion held by that establishment is now 50,000,000f., or say £1,200,000 sterling, more than at the date of the last return.

From the London Correspondent of the New-York Commercial.

Since the departure of the last packet the pressure in the London money market has been almost greater than ever. This is to be attributed to the shipment just completed of £750,000 in silver to India and China, and the preparations to transmit £1,000,000 more in the course of a fortnight. But for the unfavorable quotations of the Chinese rates of exchange, received by the last overland mail, the Bank of England would by this time have been prepared to reduce their rate of discount from 6½@7 ₱ cent. Under existing circumstances, although £600,000 of gold, long overdue from Australia, has just arrived, it is impossible to conjecture when a relaxation may take place. The tendency, notwithstanding the large exportation of silver, is rather toward an increase than a decrease in the Bank stock of bullion, but the improvement is altogether slow and uncertain. One favorable fact that has just transpired is that the bullion in the Bank of France is believed to have received an augmentation equal to more than a million sterling during the past three weeks.

In the Consol market the speculators still cling obstinately to their anticipations of the approach of better times, and therefore continue to borrow money at the rate of 6½ ₱ cent., to keep their hold upon stock which pays only 3 ₱ cent. In railroad shares and other securities the operations are less active and few new enterprises meet with the least attention or favor. The £1,000 shares of the Atlantic Telegraph Company on which £500 have been paid, are quoted at £410 or 90 discount.

Office of J. S. Rees & Co., Bankers,
Marion, Ohio, June 6, 1857.

S. C. Herring & Co.—Gents: Our banking house was broken open last night, and an unsuccessful attempt made to force open the Safe; gunpowder was used in quantities sufficient to break glass in the back room, twenty-five feet from the safe, and to displace pictures and furniture, as well as to blow the inside of one of the outside doors into small pieces, but your Hall's Powder Proof Lock resisted all efforts to effect an entrance. The burglars left a very good selection of tools—sledge hammers, a variety of queer looking chisels, braces and bits, together with levers, &c., &c. It took three good strong men nearly an hour to remove the remains of the wrecked door so as to reach the inside door, which, of course, remained unharmed. Considering this latter circumstance, together with the fact that two more doors awaited the thieves, if they had succeeded in opening the outside one, we have no hesitation in ordering a new door, and continuing our confidence in your "Burglar Proof Safes with Hall's Powder Proof Lock." One half the cost of the safe is in good order. Can you [illegible] the amount in your books, or shall we [illegible] you?

We feel under so much obligation to you, for the protection your safe has afforded us, that we shall be happy to make any use you may [illegible] of this letter.

Very respectfully, [illegible] & CO.

FINANCIAL.

PITTSBURGH, FORT WAYNE AND CHICAGO RAILROAD COMPANY.

$10,000,000.

MORTGAGE BONDS CONVERTIBLE INTO $6,100,000 FOR CONSTRUCTION, AND $3,900,000 FOR REDEMPTION OF FUNDED DEBT.

Date, January 1, 1857. Principal payable January 1, 1887.

Interest at seven per cent., payable July 1 and January 1.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN NEW-YORK.

To provide means for the immediate completion and full equipment of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad of 468 miles, as well as to make timely provision for the redemption of the Funded Debt of the Ohio and Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, and Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Companies respectively, maturing at different periods between Sept. 1, 1854, and July 1, 1873, the PITTSBURGH, FORT WAYNE AND CHICAGO RAILROAD COMPANY, into which those three Companies were legally merged by consolidation August 1, 1856, has authorized the issue of TEN THOUSAND BONDS, of which 3,900 of $1,000 each are known as Construction Bonds, and 6,100 of $1,000 each are known as Redemption Bonds, and are of the tenor above stated.

These Bonds are secured by a MORTGAGE IN TRUST to JOHN FERGUSON and THOMAS E. WALKER of New-York, covering the Company's Road of 468 miles, from Pittsburgh to Chicago, with all its Depot grounds, appurtenances and franchises, embracing the Railroad Bridge over the Allegheny River at Pittsburgh, and Depot grounds of great value in Pittsburgh, Allegheny, Chicago, Fort Wayne and at other points.

The Mortgage provides for a Sinking Fund.

The Redemption Bonds will remain under the control of the Trustees, and be issued only from time to time, as they can be exchanged for, or are required to be sold to redeem the outstanding Bonds of the three Companies consolidated, and the privilege of such exchange is now extended to holders of those Bonds, and their attention is especially invited to the advantages that will result alike to the Consolidated Company and themselves by such exchange.

The Construction Bonds are offered for sale to provide means to finish the Road between Plymouth and Chicago, to stock, equip, and to ballast it and equip and furnish it with a full stock of Rolling Machinery, Engine-Houses, Shops, Station-Houses, &c., the estimates for all of which are nearly $6,000,000.

The Capital Stock of the Company is fixed at..$16,000,000
The present cost of the Road is about.....12,000,000
The Child Capital is nearly.....6,000,000
The Funded debt secured on the Road is.....6,038,000

The earnings of the Road, mainly from local traffic, since the consolidation, from the first of August, 1856, to the 1st of May, 1857, eight months, have been over $1,300,000. The net earnings for that time are at a rate of over 7 per cent. on the entire cost of the Road. They are the earnings of an unfinished and but partially ballasted and equipped road.

The earnings for 1857 are estimated at $2,000,000.

The Road is operated for 382 miles, from Pittsburg to Plymouth, Indiana, where its business passes to and from Chicago over another more circuitous route of different gauge.

The 82 miles between Plymouth and Chicago are in progress of construction, and far advanced toward completion. Four thousand tons of American iron are purchased, 40 miles of track can be laid this season, and the whole work completed to Chicago within twelve months; after which the earnings will increase, as is believed, with the development of the business of the road, to a permanent income of $4,000,000 per annum.

The guarantee of this result are believed to exist in these facts:

1. The road has immense resources for local traffic in passengers and freights. It connects by the shortest line Pittsburg and Chicago, and passes through 24 counties and 14 county towns. (including the termini,) the valuation of whose property for taxable purposes in 1855 exceeded $150,000,000—the counties embracing some of those the best developed and most productive in Ohio and Indiana, and the towns being among the most important centres of trade between Pittsburg and Chicago.

2. The road has over 15 liberal railway connections, bringing it in communication with the whole Western Railroad system—these connections conferring marked advantages to the road as a route over various and large portions of its line from Chicago to Toledo, Cleveland and Buffalo, and from Pittsburg to Indianapolis, St. Louis, Cincinnati, &c. Reference to a map will more fully illustrate this point.

3. The Road is a single line, without branches, and the longest continuous Railroad in the United States, and for its whole length of 468 miles, part of a great central route, in connection with the Pennsylvania Railroad, of 818 miles from Philadelphia to Chicago, and of 906 miles from New-York to Chicago, via Philadelphia, and on completion of the Allentown Road in Pennsylvania, of 866 miles only from New-York to Chicago, thus saving from 63 to 72 miles in distance via Philadelphia, and from 78 to 88 miles via Allentown, as compared with the great route through New-York—making also the shortest route, of 798 miles via Harrisburg, between Baltimore and Chicago. In alignment and grades the entire line from Chicago to Philadelphia has marked advantages, no grades existing between Chicago and Philadelphia, going East, over 53 feet per mile. Between Pittsburg and Chicago no grades occur exceeding 47 feet per mile, and for 335 miles there are no grades over 26 4-10 feet per mile, and for more than that distance the route is practically a straight line. The Road, therefore, must become one of the most important, if not the most important, PERMANENT avenues of American commerce, and its traffic will be limited only by its capacity.

4. The Road will be completed at a low cost, as compared with other leading through lines, and has corresponding advantages in grade, alignment, &c., for safe, speedy and economical operation, and easy and cheap maintenance.

A full Exhibit of the history, condition and prospects of this Road, with copies of the Bonds, Mortgages, Articles of Consolidation, &c., has been prepared and will be furnished for the information of parties desiring to invest in the Bonds.

The Company solicits a full investigation of the merits of this loan. It is offered as one in every respect worthy the attention of capitalists, and applications are now invited for the Construction Bonds, $150,000 of which have already been sold.

A subscription for $1,000,000 of the Construction Bonds, conditional on that amount being taken, with the option to subscribers of taking $2,000,000 at the same rate, is open at the office of the Company, No. 37 William-st. (3d floor,) where all needful information will be furnished.

METROPOLITAN BANK, New-York, May 18, 1857.

AT A MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS of the METROPOLITAN BANK, held on the 5th inst., it was resolved to increase the Capital Stock, $1,000,000; say, from $6,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Subscription books will be opened at the Banking House, No. 306 Broadway, on the 1st day of July next, and remain open until the 10th of said month. Those holding stock at the close of business on the 25th of June next, will be entitled to subscribe at par, for said million of additional capital, and will receive one share of new stock for every three shares of old. They will also have the right to assign the privilege of subscribing, for which purpose a form will be furnished.

Shareholders will have the right to pay in full on the 1st day of July next; to such as do, there will be no charge of interest. Those who do not pay at that time, are required to pay 50 per cent. on or before the 15th of said July, and the remaining 50 per cent. on or before the 15th day of October next.

Interest at 7 per cent. per annum from the 1st day of July, will be added to all instalments paid after that day, in order to make all the payments equal to a full payment on the said 1st day of July.

For partial payments, scrip receipts will be issued; but whenever a shareholder shall pay the full amount due on his subscription, he shall be entitled, at once, to the usual certificate of full paid stock. All shareholders will have the benefit of the dividend which may be paid in January, 1858.

Shareholders at a distance, wishing to take the stock they will be entitled to, may make their subscriptions to the new stock by sending to this Bank, duly signed and witnessed, a power of attorney.

It is very desirable that such shareholders as intend to avail themselves of the opportunity to subscribe, or who wish to assign their rights to do so to some other parties, shall give notice of their intentions as early as the 1st of July, if unavoidable, but certainly by the 10th.

It will be necessary for parties to whom such rights shall be assigned, to appear at the Bank, in person, or by attorney, to sign the articles of the Association.

THE POLICE WAR.

...ly that he struck or otherwise assaulted anyone, while passing to and at the City Hall, on Tuesday, on or under the warrant for his arrest issued by Recorder Barry. The warrant has not been served upon him yet, and he is unable, he says, to account for the fact. He shows a bold front around the City Hall, and has rather limited service than otherwise. He has sent his counsel to Recorder Barry and ascertained that a warrant had certainly been issued. To inquiry of counsel whether the Recorder would admit the Alderman to bail, the Recorder is said to have answered indefinitely. The bail ought to be some 10,000, but as the party making the complaint of assault still lies in danger of his life, he (the Recorder) might deem it improper to admit any bail.

As for the facts of the alleged assault, the Alderman says that instead of assaulting any one, he prevented several from being knocked down and beaten. He declares that he arrested two men, who were making themselves active and cruel with their clubs and clubs. Relative to the service of the warrant, he says, with perfect emphasis, that no Metropolitan Policeman shall arrest him. He will fight his bail, and they will have to fight their best, before they take him in custody. He will allege Mayor Wood's Policemen and the five Municipal Policemen appointed by the Board of Supervisors to arrest him, and none others.

ASSAULT BY A MUNICIPAL POLICEMAN.

The following affidavit concerning officer OAKFORD was made before Recorder BARRY yesterday morning:

City and County of New-York, ss.—THOMPSON C. DUNN, of the City of New-York, merchant, being duly sworn, says that on Wednesday, the 17th day of June, instant, between the hours of five and six in the afternoon, he was in the vicinity of Broadway and Park-place, in said City, when one John Oakford, having on the uniform of a Municipal Police, of said City, came into said vicinity, accompanied by another, of said Police, and soon after followed by half a dozen more of said Police; that deponent was standing in said restaurant, in conversation with several persons, when said Oakford came up; that the subject of said conversation was Mayor Wood, against whom the most violent threats were expressed by different persons then and there present; that said Oakford was not known to this deponent; that said Oakford said to deponent and others that Simeon Draper was as bad a man as Fernando Wood, and addressed deponent, and asked how he knew anything against Fernando Wood, to which deponent replied, by complaining of the treatment of his partner, to which said Oakford replied: "You are a gentleman." Deponent said, "You are a gentleman," and said Oakford immediately struck deponent a heavy blow over his right eye, which felled deponent to the ground; that deponent was stunned by the blow, and severely cut and bruised; that said Oakford had some instrument on his knuckles; that deponent, after getting upon his feet, asked said Oakford his number, which he replied, "Kiss ——, and left the place. That this treatment was entirely unprovoked, by and unexpected to this deponent; that said Oakford was an entire stranger to deponent, and had no conversation with him or any person with him, other than as above stated.

THOMPSON C. DUNN, No. 53 Perry-street.

Sworn before me this 19th day of June, 1857.

JAMES M. SMITH, Recorder.

The Board of Aldermen met last evening, Alderman CRAMER, President, in the Chair, when the following business was transacted:

The following resolution was offered by Alderman MCGRANN, and adopted:

Resolved, That the Counsel to the Corporation be and he is hereby instructed to conduct the defence of any suit brought against the Mayor of the City, or against any of the Aldermen or Councilmen, whether in courts of civil or criminal jurisdiction, which have been instituted by reason of the appointment of CHARLES DEVLIN to the office of Street Commissioner, or which have grown out of, or have any connection with the official action of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonality, in relation to the appointment.

The following preamble and resolution was offered by Alderman MCGRANN:

Whereas, The City has been and still continues in a state of extreme and dangerous excitement in consequence of the attempt of D. D. CONOVER, under the alleged authority of the Governor of this State, to usurp and to usurp the office of Street Commissioner, which vacancy under the plain provisions of the Charter, can be supplied only on the nomination of the Mayor; and

Whereas, The said parties have since resorted to unusual and vexatious proceedings, by the issue of innumerable warrants and processes of law, requiring excessive amounts of bail, and not calculated to bring the existing controversy to any satisfactory conclusion, but to foment and increase the present popular excitement and alarm,

Resolved, That this Board pledges itself to sustain the Mayor in all legal measures, in their efforts to vindicate the rights of the City, and secure effectively the peace of the Metropolis.

Resolved, That this Board remain in continual session until the termination of the existing excitement, and that a committee be appointed to wait on the Mayor, our services in every legal form, as the Chief Magistrate and highest Executive officer of this City.

Alderman TOOMAN hoped the resolution would not pass. There was no necessity for it. It was the duty of every Executive officer to maintain the peace, and he believed that would be done. To pass such a resolution was to increase the excitement. He had hoped the farce had been played out; they had had enough of it. Such a measure passing the Board would only tend to continue it, and therefore he was opposed to its adoption. He could see no necessity for the Boards meeting every day—they could be called together at any time when necessary.

Alderman BURNS moved to refer it to the Law Committee. If those persons had done anything wrong, he for one was not willing to make himself responsible for their sins. And he saw no good reason for doing so at the present time. The motion to refer was lost. The ayes and noes were called, and the resolutions were adopted by a vote of 15 to 4.

A report directing the Chief Engineer of Fire Department to procure 25,000 feet of leather hose, was accepted, and the resolution adopted.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department be, and he is, hereby authorized to take for public use any five engine cast in actual service, and place the same in possession of any organized Fire Company that will man the same.

The Board then adjourned to this morning at 10 o'clock.

THE POLICE WAR IN THE COURT OF APPEALS.

Argument of Charles O'Conor for the Appellants.

Points on which they base their Claims to Victory.

Mr. Evarts' Argument for the New Commissioners.

The Legal Points submitted for the Respondents.

Argument of Judge Edmonds for the Plaintiffs.

Before Hiram Denio, Chief Justice, Alexander S. Johnson, Geo. F. Comstock, Samuel L. Selden, John W. Brown, Alonzo C. Paige, Wm. H. Hand[illegible], and Levi S. Bowen.

The People of the State of New-York, on the relation of Fernando Wood, Mayor of the City of New-York, Plaintiffs and Appellants, vs. Simeon Draper, James Brown, James W. Nye, Noah Claflin, and James S. T. Stranahan, Defendants and Respondents.

The Court of Appeals was opened in the Senate Chamber, in the Capitol, on Wednesday morning, and the above case was immediately called on.

Mr. CHARLES O'CONOR commenced the argument of the case on behalf of the appellants. He commenced by dwelling on the importance of the case then submitted to the people of the State and to the inhabitants of the cities in particular. In a legal point of view, however, he considered it a very simple question, and had feared that he would find some difficulty in finding words enough to occupy the two hours given him.

Mr. O'CONOR then read the "Statement of Facts" of the appellants which we have already published. He continued by remarking that the case turned upon the question whether the Constitution was to be interpreted by the Judiciary according to its spirit, or according to its letter. Because the Constitution did not expressly forbid an offence, the respondents assumed that it was authorized by some twenty words at the end which were thus made to nullify the spirit of the whole instrument. This the appellants were prepared to deny.

Mr. O'CONOR then went into an argument in regard to the different divisions of the State, which he claimed were by fundamental law, irrespective of any Constitution, counties, cities, towns and villages with their subdivisions. Mr. O'CONOR then showed the derivation of the word county, and maintained that the police, both in this and the mother country, had always been a local institution. The Legislature, however, had undertaken to change all this, and divide the State into districts and precincts.

The counsel then proceeded to read and argue upon his various points.

In the first place, he contended that it was the office of a written constitution to declare in more effectual manner the form and framework of the Government which the supreme authority has approved. Experience has taught that this may only be done by identifying the powers of government and vesting them in independent departments. The Constitution of 1846 does this, and therefore contains effectual guards against administrative abuse.

It created and defined, in express words, the two great administrative departments, the Legislative to frame laws, and the Executive to carry them out, without giving either of these departments the slightest influence in the choice it evoked from the other, or source of all power, the judicial department.

To this department, it guarded as it was from all corruptions, it gave the power of declaring the supreme law, and of restraining all attempts to evade it. This was not done in express terms, but by inevitable implication.

Constitutions must be approached by the judiciary with the greatest reverence, but still there was room for interpretation and construction. The duty of the Court is to seek for the spirit which pervades the constitution, and interpret it in good faith accordingly.

"Construction," says a learned writer, "is the deduction of meaning from the spirit of the text, where it is not plainly derivable from the letter. Let everything that is in favor of power be closely construed, but everything in favor of the liberty of the citizen be comprehensibly construed, inasmuch as power can protect itself, while the citizen needs protection. For the same reason, this writer continues, we ought always to construe comprehensively in favor of the judiciary as against the Legislature. The power of local government is subject to the supreme central power, and that central power must therefore be guarded against. After some further remarks, and an appeal to the Court to defend the judiciary in the assault now made upon it by the Legislature, and to save the City of New-York from the bloodshed and anarchy that heretofore it, Mr. O'CONOR proceeded to read his second point. This related mainly to the question of the Legislature having power to abolish the divisions of counties, towns and villages. The counsel quoted several sections of the Constitution in which these divisions are recognized.

If it be true that the Legislature cannot, for general purposes, make other divisions than counties, cities, towns or villages, yet for specific purposes it was argued that they might—for taxation, or for lamp and watch districts. Thus they might take two thirds of New-York, and one third of Brooklyn, and call it an assessment district. So for purposes of police, they might make a new coat out of twenty three old coats, and redivide, and cut off in scraps and parcels, and make new districts, and having thus confounded the whole subject of local government, they might get around that prohibition which forbids the alteration for purposes of general government, and the whole scheme and design of the Constitution is defeated.

The leading intent of the whole Constitution was to decentralize. Confidence in the people and distrust in those whom they have chosen appear in every line. The patronage of the Governor and the Legislature was taken away and placed in the hands of the people or of the local authorities. Even the power of "gerrymandering" was taken from the Legislature by vesting the power of forming election districts in the hands of the County authorities. But the present Legislature had hit upon a new method "of gerrymandering, and there was no express negative to be quoted against it.

Third Point. The Metropolitan Police Act, in its whole scope and design, and in every one of its provisions, is repugnant to the letter and spirit of the Constitution; and it is consequently void.

I. There is a manifest intent pervading the Constitution that districts shall not be created for permanent purposes of civil government which are "new, anomalous and unknown" to the people and to the Constitution itself.

II. The Legislature cannot be permitted to defeat this design or to circumvent and overreach the provisions of the fundamental law by nag and unheard of devices.—(Warner vs. The People, 2 Denio 272.)

III. The division of the country into separate districts with powers of internal government, administered through officers chosen in and by the vicinage, is the distinguishing feature of a Free State. To carry this principle to the utmost practicable extent was a leading object of the Constitution. If all local officers may be appointed by the central power that object must fail, and each county, city, town and village, so far as official patronage is concerned, may, by Legislative magic, be reduced to the condition of an Eastern pachalic or satrapic.

IV. There is nothing in the suggestion that necessity might arise for the creation of these anomalous governmental districts. Such is not the fact. And, if it were, the people in their fundamental law have refused to acknowledge it.

1. The divisions recognized for permanent purposes of civil government contemplate society in its normal condition. The exigencies of insurrection, war, pestilence, famine, &c., invoke the military power of the State, or the employment of temporary civil agencies, not permanent officers.

2. Pilots and coast guards of every description must always be employed in reference to natural divisions. They do not come within the idea of arbitrarily-formed local districts. Officers to attend the movement of vessels or property along the whole course of a natural or artificial stream, or even along a railroad, or in a balloon route, when once shall be established, might well be brought within the same principle.

3. Hospitals and asylums for the reception of patients without reference to the local residence of such patients, and prisons, or other public establishments of like general character, have no feature of political locality.

4. It may be conceded that many acts which have been passed for the draining of swamps, and for the building of bridges, court-houses, &c. by State appointees within the limits of particular counties, cities, towns, &c., and at their cost, are valid. These are mere temporary agencies for the performance of a single specified act. Under this head, much irremediable abuse of the legislative power, and much virtual usurpation may occur. But the want of effectual restraint at that point, is no reason for throwing down the barriers which have been provided at others.

V. Even if the general consolidating words of Art. 10, § 2, should be deemed of obscure or doubtful import, they cannot be so construed as to set aside or render inoperative all the positive provisions of the Constitution concerning local officers. The operation claimed for them would make void the first and fundamental article in the bill of rights. Const., Art. 1, § 1.

1. If these words, as probably designed by the Committee who framed the section, shall be deemed applicable to local officers only, then they must be construed reddendo singula singulis, i. e., "elected" by the people of the counties, cities, towns or villages, or "appointed" by the authorities thereof, as the Legislature may direct.

2. If they are to be applied to all officers, State or local, the same principle of construction must be followed. As to State officers, they, too, must be "elected" by the people of the whole State, or "appointed" by some the whole State, or "appointed" by some the whole State, or "appointed" by some
